Senate Group Begins Refugee Act Inquiry

Corsi Ouster By State Dept. Sparks Probe

McLeod Questioned; Dismissed Official Will Appear Today

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)— A Senate Judiciary subcommittee launched a whirlwind investigation today of the administration of the Refugee Immigration Act, touched off by the State Department's dismissal of Edward Corsi.

R. W. Scott McLeod, State Department security chief and administrator of the program, was suddenly called as a witness in mid-afternoon and was closeted with the subcommittee for a little over two hours.

Sen. Langer (R-ND), the subcommittee chairman, said that Corsi would appear tomorrow afternoon (2 p.m.) for closed - door questioning and indicated public hearings may start Friday.

"We're going to try desperately to clean the whole thing up this week," Langer said.

Dulles Statement Denied

Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday that Corsi, an Italian-born New York Republican, had been dismissed as an adviser on refugee problems because he wanted to be named administrator of the 1953 refugee act.

Hotly denying this, Corsi urged a congressional investigation of the operation of the act. He earlier had called the administration of the program "a scandalous failure," saying that only 1,000 refugees had been admitted since the act was passed in August, 1953.

The law authorizes the admission of 214,000 nonquota refugees and alien relatives of persons residing in the United States. The deadline for issuance of visas is Dec. 31, 1956.

McLeod told newsmen after his closed session with the subcommittee that the State Department has issued 24,810 visas for entry into this country under the program.

Program Amended In 1954

Of these, he said, over 3,700 were for persons in the refugee category and the rest were for persons with relatives who are U.S. citizens. McLeod said that 1,044 persons issued visas as refugees have actually entered the country. Immigration Service figures showed a total of 16,713 entries, including relatives, up to April 1.

McLeod said it was important to remember that the program, as amended by Congress last year, is now about 50 per cent for refugees and about 50 per cent for aliens who are relatives of American citizens.

Corsi had charged that "an intolerant minority both in Congress and within the State Department" had sabotaged the administration of the program. He named both McLeod and Rep. Walter (D-Pa).

The dismissal of Corsi followed charges by Walter that Corsi in the past had associated with organizations later listed by the attorney general as Communist-fronts.

Ike Approves Atomic Secret Exchange Plan

Proposed Agreement Excludes Information On Nuclear Weapons

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13 (AP) — President Eisenhower today approved a plan for exchange of some atomic secrets among the 14 North Atlantic treaty nations.

"I consider it to be a great stride forward in the strengthening of our common defense," he declared in making public the proposed international agreement.

The plan specifically bars the handing over of actual atomic weapons to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It also excludes exchange of information on how to manufacture such weapons.

The data shared would deal with:

1. Development of defense plans.
2. Training of personnel in the use of atomic weapons and defense against them.

Enemy Capabilities

3. Evaluation of the capabilities of potential enemies in the use of atomic weapons.

The proposed agreement was approved by the North Atlantic Council on March 2, Eisenhower disclosed, but will go into effect only when it has been signed by all of the NATO countries.

With the way cleared for West Germany to become the 15th NATO member, that nation is likely to share eventually in the exchange of atomic secrets. That agreement provides that new members can share by notifying the United States of willingness to be bound by the agreement.

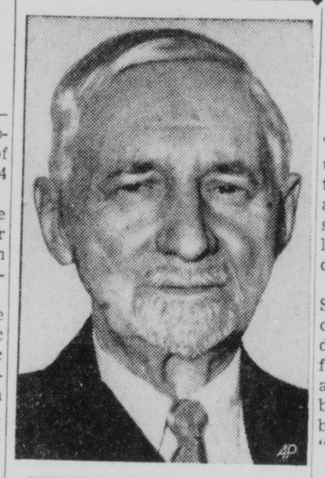
Perkins To Sign For U. S.

In addition to the United States, the present members are the United Kingdom, France, Canada, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal and Turkey.

The exchange plan was made possible by the 1954 revision of the Atomic Energy Act.

Eisenhower today named George W. Perkins, permanent U.S. representative on the North Atlantic Council, to sign the agreement on behalf of this country. No date has been set.

Sobeloff Rejects "Both Extremes" In Desegregation



GENERAL DIES—Gen. Peyton C. March (above), who took over as Army chief of staff in the most critical hour of World War I, died in Walter Reed General Hospital yesterday at the age of 90. (Story at bottom of page)

Administration Cautions Court

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — The Eisenhower administration urged the Supreme Court today to guard against "paralyzing inaction or frustration" in wiping out school segregation. But it said lower courts should be given some discretion as to timing and details.

U.S. Solicitor Gen. Simon E. Sobeloff made the presentation. He cautioned the court against giving district judges "a blank check" to fill out any way they want and against taking on to itself "the burden of acting as a super school board."

"Moderation" Advised

The Justice Department official counseled "moderation, but with a degree of firmness" in setting up the mechanism for carrying out the Supreme Court decision of last May 17 that separate public schools for white and Negro children violate the Constitution.

The court now is near the end of arguments on what sort of decree it should issue for putting its decision into effect.

As have attorneys for states and for Negro parents, Sobeloff took the position that district courts where segregation cases arose are the appropriate agency for making the May 17 decision effective. District judges, he said, should be given some degree of discretion but be told that "discretion is not to be used for frustration or delay for the sake of delay."

"Extremes" Rejected

The solicitor general said he was taking a position that rejects "both extremes." On one extreme are the Negro attorneys who want a rigid order to district courts fixing a final date for desegregation by next September or by September, 1956 and on the other are the attorneys for affected states who, Sobeloff said, would have the Supreme Court "fix no date and give no criteria to the lower courts for guidance."

Four more states spoke out today for a Supreme Court decree that would allow ample time to work out segregation details, with no set deadline for compliance.

Legal officials of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Maryland and Texas put in their arguments along that line. And North Carolina completed its contentions today in the same general pattern.

Eisenhower's Move Gesture Of Good Will

Export Controls Put On Vaccine; Senator Fears 'Black Market'

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)— President Eisenhower, in an international gesture of good will, decided today to send latest information on the Salk polio preventive to nations around the globe, including Russia and other Red countries.

Secretary of State Dulles announced tonight he will do this at the President's direction. Dulles said he also will consult with other goyernment officials to see how far the United States can go in making the vaccine itself available for export.

Only a few hours before, the Commerce Department clamped export controls on the newly approved vaccine. Officials said at the time it might be possible to meet worldwide demands for the long-sought weapon against the dreaded disease in 1957.

"Black Market" Feared

Inasmuch as the Salk findings and data on the vaccine's effectiveness have already been widely published, the government's decision to send the facts abroad was viewed mostly as a gesture of humanitarian good will.

Sen. Hill (D-Ala) proposed, meanwhile, that Eisenhower call a nationwide conference to choke off any "black market" that might spring up in the vaccine—officially described only yesterday as safe and 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio.

State Department officials likened the President's decision to share data on the antipolio weapon to his atoms-for-peace program.

They said Dulles will get tomorrow from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis a copy of yesterday's report by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., which gave a favorable evaluation of the Salk vaccine as a preventer of the crippling, killing polio.

U. S. Missions To Get Copies

Dulles then will send copies to American missions in the 75 foreign countries which the United States accords diplomatic recognition.

Officials said such countries as Red China and Albania, which the U.S. government does not recognize, undoubtedly could get copies of the Francis report from countries like Russia and Poland, Communist nations which are recognized in Washington.

Sen. Hill's antiblack market proposal came in the course of a Senate hearing on another phase of the nation's medical program.

The Alabama senator made his suggestion to Secretary of Welfare Hobby. She said the idea has merit but did not give it outright endorsement, saying she doubted a black market would develop. The Public Health Service backed away from any idea of government control in the distribution of the vaccine.

Senate Passes First Big Money Bill Of Session

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The Senate passed its first big appropriation bill of the year today, a month earlier than it got the first one out of the way last year.

Today's bill, carrying $3,358,622,000 for the Treasury and Post Office Departments and the U.S. Tax Court, was before the Senate less than a half an hour.

Sen. Robertson (D-Va), floor manager, used about 20 minutes to explain the measure and the amendments voted by the Senate Appropriations Committee. Approval followed without an objection.

Post Office Funds Boosted

The Senate version, which must now be ironed out with the one the House passed, is 76 million dollars larger. The biggest boost was an increase of 68 million for the Post Office Department; Robertson said this was needed because the volume of mail has grown heavier.

Meanwhile, the Senate Appropriations Committee readied for the floor another big money bill — a catch - all supplemental measure carrying funds to run numerous agencies for the rest of the current financial year ending June 30.

900 Million Dollar Bill

As approved by the committee, the supplemental bill carries more than 900 million dollars, as compared with the 857 million voted by the House. President Eisenhower had asked 920 million.

The supplemental bill is to be taken up on the Senate floor Friday.

The House Appropriations Committee today reported out a bill totaling $450,398,227, mainly to finance the State and Justice Departments and the U.S. Information Agency.

Ike Tariff Message Due

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13 (AP)— President Eisenhower will send Congress a special message tomorrow dealing with trade and tariffs.

Water In Gas Tank Trap Catches Thief

FLINT, Mich., April 13 (AP)—Cass Smith got mighty tired of having someone drain his gasoline tank almost nightly for two weeks.

So he drained his own tank last night—and then filled it with water.

Sheriff's deputies booked Ernest Belford, 17, of Flint, on a charge of larceny after finding him beside his stalled car two miles from Smith's home.

Deputies said Belford's car had stalled because it wouldn't run on water, a goodly amount of which was found in his tank.

Dulles Presses China To Agree To Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles prodded Red China today to agree to a Far East cease-fire which would keep alive its hope of eventually gaining control of Formosa and the offshore islands.

Dulles said also the United States favors bringing more countries into the United Nations. But he said Red China at present can not qualify because it is not a peace-loving country.

This remark could be construed as a hint Red China might get in if it mended its ways. Dulles said nothing specific, however, about any eventual change in this country's opposition to admitting Communist China.

The secretary discussed the Far Eastern crisis in a brief off-the-cuff speech before editors representing the Associated Church Press.

Backing up an earlier plea for a Formosa cease-fire, he said the kind of arrangement the United States favors would not force either the Chinese Reds or Nationalist China to give up their conflicting claims to each other's territory.

Eisenhower Not 'Invincible,' Demo Committee Says

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee said today that maybe President Eisenhower wouldn't be any more "invincible" in a 1956 presidential race than Thomas E. Dewey was in 1948.

In its monthly Democratic Digest, the committee drew a parallel between present day issues and those of the 1948 campaign when President Truman upset Dewey, then governor of New York.

The magazine didn't guess whether Eisenhower will run again. Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler has suggested that perhaps the President won't.

Parallel Issues

The Digest listed taxes, farm prices, Taft-Hartley revision, economic and power-reclamation issues as parallels of seven years ago. It said the Dixon-Yates power contract, school aid and highway programs have added a new fillip to these.

"Some skeptics may wonder if any of these issues will have enough impact on the voters to carry the day in November 1956," the Digest said. "The same question was asked in 1948, all during Mr. Truman's campaign.

New Air Of Demo Unity

"When the election was over, however, most analysts concluded it wasn't any one of these issues, taken separately, that had had the decisive impact. It was the fact that they all added up to one very simple and overwhelming truth: Government under the Republicans is, by and large, government for the few, while the Democrats represent government for the many."

The national committee meets here Friday in a new atmosphere of outward unity engendered by Democratic agreement with the foreign policies laid down Monday by Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee.

Cars Reportedly Plunge In River As Bridge Falls

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 13 (AP)— Two bridges collapsed into the flood - swollen Homochitto River about 18 miles south of here today. At least two cars and a truck were reported to have plunged into the stream.

No information was available immediately about possible casualties. Rescue workers could not get close enough to find the vehicles.

The main bridge on Highway 61 over the Homochitton collapsed about 3:45 p. m. A motorist said he saw two cars and a pickup truck crash into the muddy river from the south side of the bridge.

"Skid marks on the north side of the bridge indicate one car went off there," the Highway patrol at Brookhaven said.

A short time earlier, a new steel bridge over the Homochitto plunged into the river close by. Officials believed that no vehicles were on that bridge.

Chou Delays Air Trip To Bandung Following Crash

RANGOON, Burma, April 13 (AP) —Premier Chou En-lai appeared to have delayed his departure for the Asian-African conference today as the Chinese Communists accused "Western agents" of sabotaging an earlier planeload of Red delegates bound for Bandung, Indonesia.

No announcement was made of Chou's change of plans. Word just trickled down that the Communist Chinese Premier would not arrive here. A Burmese Foreign Office source said there was no indication whether Chou had merely postponed his trip or cancelled it.

16 Perished In Crash

The Premier had been expected to reach Rangoon today in the Air India plane chartered by the Chinese. The same airline owned another plane which crashed Monday in the South China Sea. Nineteen persons were aboard. Three were rescued.

India's Prime Minister Nehru, in a message of sympathy to Peiping today, said the crash has "some very unusual features."

The British Foreign Office in London said it had received a warning "of possible trouble in Hong Kong" about the plane from China and that "full precautions were taken." A Foreign Office spokesman termed the crash "an unfortunate accident."

Investigation Ordered

Hong Kong's government ordered an investigation. But British colonial authorities said the possibility the Constellation was sabotaged there before its takeoff for Bandung—as Peiping radio charged was "extremely remote."

U.S. officials in Washington and Hong Kong dismissed the Communist charges as "ridiculous" and "utter nonsense."

Eight of the 19 persons aboard the plane were Chinese Communists, including the advance guard of their delegation to the Indonesian conference.

Four 'Huck Finns' Cruise Down River

DUBUQUE, Iowa, April 13 (AP)— Four modern-day Huck Finns are cruising down the Mississippi this week on a homemade raft. Their grand tour is limited, however, since they must return to classes at the University of Wisconsin Monday.

The four youths, all from Wisconsin, are John Kanges, Superior; John Wyley, Lake Mills; Bob Ozburn, Poinette, and Dave Kovenock, Milwaukee. They passed through the Dubuque locks Tuesday and replenished their food supplies from several stores here.

Their raft is made of four utility poles and metal drums, covered with a smooth deck. Their only comforts are bed rolls, pup tents, two stoves and a gasoline lantern. They hope to make it to Keokuk, Iowa before time runs out.

Yugoslavia Reports Birth Of Sextuplets

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 13 (AP)—A 19-year-old woman gave birth to sextuplets in a Yugoslav mountain village, the Zagreb weekly newspaper "Vjesnik U Srijedu" reported today. The newspaper said none of the babies survived.

Four boys died upon delivery and two girls died three days later, the newspaper said. The report identified the mother as Hatidza Ibricic and said she was in critical condition, suffering from exhaustion and loss of blood.

Kentucky Asbestos Worker Admits Weird Triple Killing

HENDERSON, Ky., April 13 (AP) —The weird slaying of three members of a Kentucky farm family was confessed deadpan late today by a heavy-set 30-year-old asbestos worker.

A state police investigator said Leslie Irvin broke down under questioning at Evansville, Ind., across the Ohio River, and told how he shot the victims after binding their hands behind their backs.

The bodies of Goebel Duncan, 51, and his son, Raymond, 21, were found in a recently flooded swampland near their home March 28.

Later the same day, Mrs. Doris Ray Duncan, 20, wife of another son, was found shot to death in the Duncan home. Goebel Duncan's wife also was bound and shot but is now recovering in a Henderson hospital.

The state police spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, reconstructed Irvin's statement this way:

Irvin entered the Duncan home while the family was away. He was surprised by the men. Goebel Duncan was bound and the son was ordered to drive at gun-point to the swamp area. Then Raymond Duncan was bound and both were shot.

He went then to Raymond Duncan's home on the same farm, 15 miles from Henderson, and was surprised by the women. He drove both of them to the Goebel Duncan home, bound them there and shot them.

The spokesman said Irvin made no statement concerning whether he molested the women sexually. A physician's report after the crime said they were molested although not raped.

Convicts Revolt, Ask Extra Meal

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., April 13 (AP) —Fifty-two of Texas' toughest convicts rebelled today and threatened to injure themselves if they didn't get more food.

"All we want is three square meals a day," said the toughies, from the prison's maximum security section.

They now get only two meals daily.

They refused to leave an exercise yard and taunted machine gun-armed guards on the 30-foot concrete and steel walls around them.

Several convicts ripped off their shoes and socks. They appeared to hold something to their heels. Prison officials said it was possible the men have concealed small pieces of metal or glass about their persons.

Prison Manager O. B. Ellis said desperate convicts sometimes cut their heel strings. That way they get special hospital treatment but are not permanently harmed.

Supreme Court Asked To Kill Anti-Red Act

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The Communist party today asked the Supreme Court to strike down the law under which it has been ordered to register as a tool of Moscow.

The party, in a 131-page petition, urged the high tribunal to overturn a decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals here. The Appeals Court by a vote of 2-1 upheld constitutionality of the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act and an order by the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Hong Kong Tragedy

HONG KONG, Thursday, April 14 (AP) — A three-story tenement building in central Hong Kong collapsed early today and officials said from 20 to 30 persons were feared dead and more than 50 injured.

Gen. March, World War I, Army Chief Of Staff, Dies

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — Gen. Peyton C. March, who became Army chief of staff in the most critical hour of World War I, died today at the age of 90.

Death came in the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital where the rail-thin, bearded general observed his last birthday with a quiet family party Dec. 27. He had been hospitalized since February, 1954, having suffered a broken hip in a fall shortly before that.

Famous in his day, though overshadowed in public acclaim by Gen. John Pershing with his Allied Expeditionary Force, March retired from the Army three years after the first World War ended and lived on to become one of history's almost forgotten men.

March took over as chief of staff in March, 1918, when the last great German thrust for victory was getting under way.

The need for American manpower to bolster the battered British and French lines was desperate. March was credited with probably the greatest single role in the almost incredible accomplishment of transporting two million American soldiers to European battlefields in a few months.

He was a tough artilleryman serving under Pershing when the chief of staff appointment came. He was equally tough and single-purposed to the point of ruthlessness when called upon to get the troops where they were needed.

March's feats won him respect and gratitude but not always friendship. A move to make him a permanent four-star general failed, and he retired with the rank of major general at the age of 57.

Talks On Austria Make Progress

MOSCOW, April 13 (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Austrian leaders agreed today they are making progress in talks which could facilitate signing of an Austrian independence treaty.

Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab and his foreign minister, Leopold Figl, are here for conferences scheduled to end tomorrow. They hope to reach agreement with the Russians on points which can be accepted by the United States, Britain and France.

With the Soviet Union, these three governments have occupied Austria since the end of World War II. All four nations must agree on provisions of the treaty before the occupying troops will be withdrawn. Prior efforts at agreement have failed.

Asked whether the current talks would definitely lead to negotiations for conclusion of a treaty, Molotov replied:

"Not everything depends on us. We would like something agreed among the four powers and Austria and we believe that what will be agreed on here with Austria will facilitate that ultimate objective."

Later Raab told Western reporters, "I will underwrite what Mr. Molotov said."

As approved by the committee, the supplemental bill carries more than 900 million dollars, as compared with the 857 million voted by the House. President Eisenhower had asked 920 million.

The supplemental bill is to be taken up on the Senate floor Friday.

The House Appropriations Committee today reported out a bill totaling $450,398,227, mainly to finance the State and Justice Departments and the U.S. Information Agency.

Ike Tariff Message Due

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13 (AP)— President Eisenhower will send Congress a special message tomorrow dealing with trade and tariffs.

Water In Gas Tank Trap Catches Thief

FLINT, Mich., April 13 (AP)—Cass Smith got mighty tired of having someone drain his gasoline tank almost nightly for two weeks.

So he drained his own tank last night—and then filled it with water.

Sheriff's deputies booked Ernest Belford, 17, of Flint, on a charge of larceny after finding him beside his stalled car two miles from Smith's home.

Deputies said Belford's car had stalled because it wouldn't run on water, a goodly amount of which was found in his tank.

Dulles Presses China To Agree To Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles prodded Red China today to agree to a Far East cease-fire which would keep alive its hope of eventually gaining control of Formosa and the offshore islands.

Dulles said also the United States favors bringing more countries into the United Nations. But he said Red China at present can not qualify because it is not a peace-loving country.

This remark could be construed as a hint Red China might get in if it mended its ways. Dulles said nothing specific, however, about any eventual change in this country's opposition to admitting Communist China.

The secretary discussed the Far Eastern crisis in a brief off-the-cuff speech before editors representing the Associated Church Press.

Backing up an earlier plea for a Formosa cease-fire, he said the kind of arrangement the United States favors would not force either the Chinese Reds or Nationalist China to give up their conflicting claims to each other's territory.

Eisenhower Not 'Invincible,' Demo Committee Says

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The Democratic National Committee said today that maybe President Eisenhower wouldn't be any more "invincible" in a 1956 presidential race than Thomas E. Dewey was in 1948.

In its monthly Democratic Digest, the committee drew a parallel between present day issues and those of the 1948 campaign when President Truman upset Dewey, then governor of New York.

The magazine didn't guess whether Eisenhower will run again. Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler has suggested that perhaps the President won't.

Parallel Issues

The Digest listed taxes, farm prices, Taft-Hartley revision, economic and power-reclamation issues as parallels of seven years ago. It said the Dixon-Yates power contract, school aid and highway programs have added a new fillip to these.

"Some skeptics may wonder if any of these issues will have enough impact on the voters to carry the day in November 1956," the Digest said. "The same question was asked in 1948, all during Mr. Truman's campaign.

New Air Of Demo Unity

"When the election was over, however, most analysts concluded it wasn't any one of these issues, taken separately, that had had the decisive impact. It was the fact that they all added up to one very simple and overwhelming truth: Government under the Republicans is, by and large, government for the few, while the Democrats represent government for the many."

The national committee meets here Friday in a new atmosphere of outward unity engendered by Democratic agreement with the foreign policies laid down Monday by Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee.

Convicts Revolt, Ask Extra Meal

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., April 13 (AP) —Fifty-two of Texas' toughest convicts rebelled today and threatened to injure themselves if they didn't get more food.

"All we want is three square meals a day," said the toughies, from the prison's maximum security section.

They now get only two meals daily.

They refused to leave an exercise yard and taunted machine gun-armed guards on the 30-foot concrete and steel walls around them.

Several convicts ripped off their shoes and socks. They appeared to hold something to their heels. Prison officials said it was possible the men have concealed small pieces of metal or glass about their persons.

Prison Manager O. B. Ellis said desperate convicts sometimes cut their heel strings. That way they get special hospital treatment but are not permanently harmed.

Cars Reportedly Plunge In River As Bridge Falls

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 13 (AP)— Two bridges collapsed into the flood - swollen Homochitto River about 18 miles south of here today. At least two cars and a truck were reported to have plunged into the stream.

No information was available immediately about possible casualties. Rescue workers could not get close enough to find the vehicles.

The main bridge on Highway 61 over the Homochitton collapsed about 3:45 p. m. A motorist said he saw two cars and a pickup truck crash into the muddy river from the south side of the bridge.

"Skid marks on the north side of the bridge indicate one car went off there," the Highway patrol at Brookhaven said.

A short time earlier, a new steel bridge over the Homochitto plunged into the river close by. Officials believed that no vehicles were on that bridge.

Supreme Court Asked To Kill Anti-Red Act

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The Communist party today asked the Supreme Court to strike down the law under which it has been ordered to register as a tool of Moscow.

The party, in a 131-page petition, urged the high tribunal to overturn a decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals here. The Appeals Court by a vote of 2-1 upheld constitutionality of the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act and an order by the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Hong Kong Tragedy

HONG KONG, Thursday, April 14 (AP) — A three-story tenement building in central Hong Kong collapsed early today and officials said from 20 to 30 persons were feared dead and more than 50 injured.

Chou Delays Air Trip To Bandung Following Crash

RANGOON, Burma, April 13 (AP) —Premier Chou En-lai appeared to have delayed his departure for the Asian-African conference today as the Chinese Communists accused "Western agents" of sabotaging an earlier planeload of Red delegates bound for Bandung, Indonesia.

No announcement was made of Chou's change of plans. Word just trickled down that the Communist Chinese Premier would not arrive here. A Burmese Foreign Office source said there was no indication whether Chou had merely postponed his trip or cancelled it.

16 Perished In Crash

The Premier had been expected to reach Rangoon today in the Air India plane chartered by the Chinese. The same airline owned another plane which crashed Monday in the South China Sea. Nineteen persons were aboard. Three were rescued.

India's Prime Minister Nehru, in a message of sympathy to Peiping today, said the crash has "some very unusual features."

The British Foreign Office in London said it had received a warning "of possible trouble in Hong Kong" about the plane from China and that "full precautions were taken." A Foreign Office spokesman termed the crash "an unfortunate accident."

Investigation Ordered

Hong Kong's government ordered an investigation. But British colonial authorities said the possibility the Constellation was sabotaged there before its takeoff for Bandung—as Peiping radio charged was "extremely remote."

U.S. officials in Washington and Hong Kong dismissed the Communist charges as "ridiculous" and "utter nonsense."

Eight of the 19 persons aboard the plane were Chinese Communists, including the advance guard of their delegation to the Indonesian conference.

Four 'Huck Finns' Cruise Down River

DUBUQUE, Iowa, April 13 (AP)— Four modern-day Huck Finns are cruising down the Mississippi this week on a homemade raft. Their grand tour is limited, however, since they must return to classes at the University of Wisconsin Monday.

The four youths, all from Wisconsin, are John Kanges, Superior; John Wyley, Lake Mills; Bob Ozburn, Poinette, and Dave Kovenock, Milwaukee. They passed through the Dubuque locks Tuesday and replenished their food supplies from several stores here.

Their raft is made of four utility poles and metal drums, covered with a smooth deck. Their only comforts are bed rolls, pup tents, two stoves and a gasoline lantern. They hope to make it to Keokuk, Iowa before time runs out.

Talks On Austria Make Progress

MOSCOW, April 13 (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Austrian leaders agreed today they are making progress in talks which could facilitate signing of an Austrian independence treaty.

Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab and his foreign minister, Leopold Figl, are here for conferences scheduled to end tomorrow. They hope to reach agreement with the Russians on points which can be accepted by the United States, Britain and France.

With the Soviet Union, these three governments have occupied Austria since the end of World War II. All four nations must agree on provisions of the treaty before the occupying troops will be withdrawn. Prior efforts at agreement have failed.

Asked whether the current talks would definitely lead to negotiations for conclusion of a treaty, Molotov replied:

"Not everything depends on us. We would like something agreed among the four powers and Austria and we believe that what will be agreed on here with Austria will facilitate that ultimate objective."

Later Raab told Western reporters, "I will underwrite what Mr. Molotov said."

Yugoslavia Reports Birth Of Sextuplets

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 13 (AP)—A 19-year-old woman gave birth to sextuplets in a Yugoslav mountain village, the Zagreb weekly newspaper "Vjesnik U Srijedu" reported today. The newspaper said none of the babies survived.

Four boys died upon delivery and two girls died three days later, the newspaper said. The report identified the mother as Hatidza Ibricic and said she was in critical condition, suffering from exhaustion and loss of blood.

Kentucky Asbestos Worker Admits Weird Triple Killing

HENDERSON, Ky., April 13 (AP) —The weird slaying of three members of a Kentucky farm family was confessed deadpan late today by a heavy-set 30-year-old asbestos worker.

A state police investigator said Leslie Irvin broke down under questioning at Evansville, Ind., across the Ohio River, and told how he shot the victims after binding their hands behind their backs.

The bodies of Goebel Duncan, 51, and his son, Raymond, 21, were found in a recently flooded swampland near their home March 28.

Later the same day, Mrs. Doris Ray Duncan, 20, wife of another son, was found shot to death in the Duncan home. Goebel Duncan's wife also was bound and shot but is now recovering in a Henderson hospital.

The state police spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, reconstructed Irvin's statement this way:

Irvin entered the Duncan home while the family was away. He was surprised by the men. Goebel Duncan was bound and the son was ordered to drive at gun-point to the swamp area. Then Raymond Duncan was bound and both were shot.

He went then to Raymond Duncan's home on the same farm, 15 miles from Henderson, and was surprised by the women. He drove both of them to the Goebel Duncan home, bound them there and shot them.

The spokesman said Irvin made no statement concerning whether he molested the women sexually. A physician's report after the crime said they were molested although not raped.

Gen. March, World War I, Army Chief Of Staff, Dies

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — Gen. Peyton C. March, who became Army chief of staff in the most critical hour of World War I, died today at the age of 90.

Death came in the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital where the rail-thin, bearded general observed his last birthday with a quiet family party Dec. 27. He had been hospitalized since February, 1954, having suffered a broken hip in a fall shortly before that.

Famous in his day, though overshadowed in public acclaim by Gen. John Pershing with his Allied Expeditionary Force, March retired from the Army three years after the first World War ended and lived on to become one of history's almost forgotten men.

March took over as chief of staff in March, 1918, when the last great German thrust for victory was getting under way.

The need for American manpower to bolster the battered British and French lines was desperate. March was credited with probably the greatest single role in the almost incredible accomplishment of transporting two million American soldiers to European battlefields in a few months.

He was a tough artilleryman serving under Pershing when the chief of staff appointment came. He was equally tough and single-purposed to the point of ruthlessness when called upon to get the troops where they were needed.

March's feats won him respect and gratitude but not always friendship. A move to make him a permanent four-star general failed, and he retired with the rank of major general at the age of 57.

American Motors To Seek Labor Pact Tailored To Needs

Smaller Producer Would Avoid Usual Pattern Settlement

DETROIT, April 13 (AP)—One of the smaller auto producers, American Motors Corp., said today it hopes to work out a new labor contract this year different from the rest of the industry and tailored to its own needs.

Edward L. Cushman, the firm's industrial relations director, said he wants to avoid the industry's usual "pattern settlement" in which the same terms won at General Motors or Ford are pressed uniformly on the rest of the industry.

Cushman explained his stand to a reporter as American, the new firm formed last year out of the merger of Hudson and Nash, opened its contract negotiations with the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

UAW President Walter Reuther has said the union expects to follow its usual policy of seeking the same contract terms from all car makers, parts suppliers and fringe firms of the auto industry.

American is one of the smaller producers which has been losing money while Ford and GM have been making generous profits. Those who follow the industry closely say this may be a year when the union will have to give special consideration to unprospering employers.

Cushman, an experienced labor arbitrator and former assistant secretary of labor in Washington, had nothing to say in opposition to the UAW's year-around pay plan. In fact, he said American Motors is dissatisfied with its employment stability record, wants to improve it, and is willing to explore various kinds of arrangements with the union.

Cushman was a member of a committee of experts that helped the UAW draft its guaranteed wage plan two years ago. Under the union plan employers would regularly contribute an unspecified percentage of payroll toward trust funds that would be tapped to continue worker pay when men are laid off.

Cushman's remarks, similar to views he expressed in a University of Illinois speech last week, lent support to a widely-held theory that most of the auto industry is not so concerned over the union's year-around pay demand as precisely how much money it will cost individual companies.

Fields Named AEC General Manager

Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said Fields would replace Maj. Gen. Kenneth D. Nichols on May 1.

Nichols previously had announced his resignation as of the end of this month to become an engineering consultant in Washington.

For eight of the last 10 years Fields has been associated with the U.S. atomic energy program, both with the commission and the Manhattan Engineer District. The AEC announcement said the Army had assented to his retirement in order to accept the $20,000-a-year general managership.

Van Fleet Would Use Atom In Isle Defense

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet says the United States should "shoot back with atomic weapons" if Red China tries to invade the offshore Matsu and Quemoy Islands.

"We have needed such a specific military target in the Pacific to prove to our friends and to the enemy as well that we mean business," Van Fleet says in an article in the current issue of Life magazine.

"We have talked much about massive retaliation, but they are words which mean nothing. We need a deed. And here on the offshore islands is the perfect opportunity for the U.S. to perform the deed," he said.

Van Fleet, former commander of United Nations ground forces in the Korean War and now retired, said such atomic retaliation by the U.S. would be directed at a "specific act of aggression" and "would not bring Russia into the shooting."

Strike Ties Up Ships

GENOA, Italy, April 13 (AP)—Sixty-two ships, many of them foreign, were tied up in this strike-riddled Italian port today by a walkout of 6,000 dockers and coal workers.

Senate Democrats Praise FDR, Defend Yalta Course

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — Democratic senators paid homage to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt today, ranking him with Washington and Lincoln and defending the courses he followed at Yalta and elsewhere.

Twenty-three members, nearly half the party's Senate strength, took part in more than two hours of floor speeches in praise of the late President, who died 10 years ago yesterday.

Later a Republican, Sen. Wiley (Wis), joined in—calling Roosevelt a courageous figure and saying "Much that Roosevelt taught the American people has been embodied by fearlessness, hope and adventuresomeness."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn) also spoke of having a "tender" regard for F.D.R.

Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson led off the succession of tributes soon after the Senate reconvened following an Easter recess.

The Texas senator described Roosevelt as "The greatest man of our generation" and said: "It is a real test of his greatness that even now there are those who feel compelled to descend into his grave to debate endlessly the questions of his time."

Sen. Morse (Ore), a Republican turned Democrat, declared Roosevelt was motivated at Yalta by a determination to get Russia into the war against Japan as soon as possible to save thousands of American lives which might have been lost in an invasion.

The recent release of official papers on the 1945 Yalta conference has brought a renewal of Republican charges that Roosevelt made disastrous concessions to the Russians.

Crewman Is Crushed As Freighters Collide

NORFOLK, Va., April 13 (AP)—Two freighters, the Columbian Ciudad de Bogota and the Cuban Bahia de Matanzas, collided early today in a dense fog off the North Carolina coast. An unidentified crewman on the Bogota was crushed to death by a buckled steel plate.

Another of the Bogota's crewmen, Rafael Geraldo, received severe leg cuts.

Soviets OK Bohlen Trip

MOSCOW, April 13 (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen said tonight Soviet leaders have approved his projected spring visit to new farms in central Asia and southern Siberia.

Isolated Southwest Towns Digging Out Of Snow Drifts

AMARILLO, Tex., April 13 (AP)—Plows bit into snow made soggy by a warming sun to clear highways of drifts up to 10 feet deep in areas from Wyoming and Nebraska southward into Texas today.

Communications lines that iced over and were snapped by high winds slowly were being restored. The two-day, late spring storm paralyzed areas in parts of Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Dalhart, just inside the snow zone that pushed for some 50 miles into the Texas Panhandle, was still without telephone and outside power service. The highway from Amarillo was cleared during the day.

National Guard and highway crews dug scores of motorists out of drifts where they spent the night in stalled cars near Clayton, N.M., which was isolated by deep drifts.

No injuries were reported.

Fifteen passengers and two Greyhound bus drivers were brought into Raton, N.M., after being trapped for 24 hours in drifts near Capulin, N.M.H.L. Haddock, Greyhound dispatcher at Raton, said all were in good condition. H. D. Prater of Amarillo, one of the drivers, started out on foot from the bus, about 10 miles from Capulin. He got a ride in a pickup truck which stalled, and then made the remaining 1½ miles on foot.

Prater said winds of 50 to 70 mph that kept knocking him down forced him to crawl most of the way.

A New York University study indicates that human behavior is responsible for 70 to 80 per cent of industrial accidents.

Fields Named AEC General Manager

Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said Fields would replace Maj. Gen. Kenneth D. Nichols on May 1.

Nichols previously had announced his resignation as of the end of this month to become an engineering consultant in Washington.

For eight of the last 10 years Fields has been associated with the U.S. atomic energy program, both with the commission and the Manhattan Engineer District. The AEC announcement said the Army had assented to his retirement in order to accept the $20,000-a-year general managership.

Van Fleet Would Use Atom In Isle Defense

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet says the United States should "shoot back with atomic weapons" if Red China tries to invade the offshore Matsu and Quemoy Islands.

"We have needed such a specific military target in the Pacific to prove to our friends and to the enemy as well that we mean business," Van Fleet says in an article in the current issue of Life magazine.

"We have talked much about massive retaliation, but they are words which mean nothing. We need a deed. And here on the offshore islands is the perfect opportunity for the U.S. to perform the deed," he said.

Van Fleet, former commander of United Nations ground forces in the Korean War and now retired, said such atomic retaliation by the U.S. would be directed at a "specific act of aggression" and "would not bring Russia into the shooting."

Strike Ties Up Ships

GENOA, Italy, April 13 (AP)—Sixty-two ships, many of them foreign, were tied up in this strike-riddled Italian port today by a walkout of 6,000 dockers and coal workers.

Senate Democrats Praise FDR, Defend Yalta Course

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — Democratic senators paid homage to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt today, ranking him with Washington and Lincoln and defending the courses he followed at Yalta and elsewhere.

Twenty-three members, nearly half the party's Senate strength, took part in more than two hours of floor speeches in praise of the late President, who died 10 years ago yesterday.

Later a Republican, Sen. Wiley (Wis), joined in—calling Roosevelt a courageous figure and saying "Much that Roosevelt taught the American people has been embodied by fearlessness, hope and adventuresomeness."

Sen. Thye (R-Minn) also spoke of having a "tender" regard for F.D.R.

Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson led off the succession of tributes soon after the Senate reconvened following an Easter recess.

The Texas senator described Roosevelt as "The greatest man of our generation" and said: "It is a real test of his greatness that even now there are those who feel compelled to descend into his grave to debate endlessly the questions of his time."

Sen. Morse (Ore), a Republican turned Democrat, declared Roosevelt was motivated at Yalta by a determination to get Russia into the war against Japan as soon as possible to save thousands of American lives which might have been lost in an invasion.

The recent release of official papers on the 1945 Yalta conference has brought a renewal of Republican charges that Roosevelt made disastrous concessions to the Russians.

Crewman Is Crushed As Freighters Collide

NORFOLK, Va., April 13 (AP)—Two freighters, the Columbian Ciudad de Bogota and the Cuban Bahia de Matanzas, collided early today in a dense fog off the North Carolina coast. An unidentified crewman on the Bogota was crushed to death by a buckled steel plate.

Another of the Bogota's crewmen, Rafael Geraldo, received severe leg cuts.

Soviets OK Bohlen Trip

MOSCOW, April 13 (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen said tonight Soviet leaders have approved his projected spring visit to new farms in central Asia and southern Siberia.

Isolated Southwest Towns Digging Out Of Snow Drifts

AMARILLO, Tex., April 13 (AP)—Plows bit into snow made soggy by a warming sun to clear highways of drifts up to 10 feet deep in areas from Wyoming and Nebraska southward into Texas today.

Communications lines that iced over and were snapped by high winds slowly were being restored. The two-day, late spring storm paralyzed areas in parts of Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Dalhart, just inside the snow zone that pushed for some 50 miles into the Texas Panhandle, was still without telephone and outside power service. The highway from Amarillo was cleared during the day.

National Guard and highway crews dug scores of motorists out of drifts where they spent the night in stalled cars near Clayton, N.M., which was isolated by deep drifts.

No injuries were reported.

Fifteen passengers and two Greyhound bus drivers were brought into Raton, N.M., after being trapped for 24 hours in drifts near Capulin, N.M.H.L. Haddock, Greyhound dispatcher at Raton, said all were in good condition. H. D. Prater of Amarillo, one of the drivers, started out on foot from the bus, about 10 miles from Capulin. He got a ride in a pickup truck which stalled, and then made the remaining 1½ miles on foot.

Prater said winds of 50 to 70 mph that kept knocking him down forced him to crawl most of the way.

A New York University study indicates that human behavior is responsible for 70 to 80 per cent of industrial accidents.

Unemployment Benefit Claims Take Big Jump

BALTIMORE, April 13 (AP) — A sharp rise in the number of claims for unemployment benefits for the second straight week in Maryland was reported today by the State Department of Employment Security.

The department said, however, the increase does not necessarily give a true indication of the economic picture.

The number of new claims for benefits last week totaled 7,077, compared with 4,515 for the previous week and only 1,790 for the week ending March 26. There were 9,070 in corresponding week of 1954 and 3,503 the corresponding week of 1953.

Two factors in last week's increase were cited by a department analyst.

One was the seasonal slowdown in some seafood packing houses on the Eastern Shore, particularly at Cambridge and Crisfield. Operations in this industry usually are curtailed during the lull between the oyster and crabbing seasons.

The other factor was the start of a new "benefit year" April 1.

Some workers who had been laid off became eligible for compensation at the start of the benefit year and others who had previously been furloughed and had exhausted their benefits again became eligible.

The department said the number of new claims probably will fall in the next few weeks after the adjustment for the arrival of the new benefit year.

A better idea of the employment picture, it was noted, may be obtained by comparing the number of payments made last week—11,986, lowest since the third week of November, 1953—with the previous week—17,148. The 1955 high was 29,316 payments made during the first full week of January. In the first full week of April there were 26,591.

Miners Convicted Of Blasting Train Get Prison Terms

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 13 (AP)—Ten and 15-year prison sentences were imposed today on three coal miners convicted of dynamiting a freight train in an outbreak of strike violence last October.

Robert Nichols, was killed when the coal train operated by the Cherry River Boom and Lumber Company was blown up near Bolair, about 60 miles east of Charleston in Webster County.

Foster Ford Wilson, 33, of Bolair, was sentenced to 15 years in Federal prison. Charles Sparks, 35, of Bolair, and Elmer Burton Bell, 24, of Webster Spring, drew ten years each.

A fourth defendant, James Austin Bush, 50, of Bolair, was acquitted at the trial last month.

Federal Judge Ben Moore denied a motion for a new trial before imposing the sentences.

Three Indicted In Bank Shortage

BALTIMORE, April 13 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted William Arthur Leffler, 78, former executive vice president and director of the Citizens National Bank in Havre de Grace, on charges arising from a $43,000 shortage in bank funds.

Two other former employes of the Citizens National also were indicted. Aubrey N. Mitchell, 77, a former assistant cashier, was charged with three counts of false entry and William C. Bechtold, 65, a former bookkeeper, with one false entry count.

The shortage involved in both the Mitchell and Bechtold indictments was $8,500.

Leffler, former mayor of Havre de Grace, admitted the defalcation at the time of his arrest in January. He said the money was used to pay off obligations of a defunct building and loan association in which he was an official.

Leffler had worked for the bank since its organization April 25, 1900.

Maryland To Appeal Segregation Question

BALTIMORE, April 13 (AP)—Maryland decided today it will appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court the question of whether it may operate segregated facilities at Sandy Point State Park.

The resulting decision apparently could become the governing law for the entire country.

The State Commission on Forest and Parks agreed to ask for a reversal of a ruling by the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, which only yesterday gave Maryland until May 1 to appeal.

The city of Baltimore is involved in a companion case concerning the segregated beach at its Smallwood Municipal Park, also on Chesapeake Bay south of the city. The city has not yet announced whether it will appeal.

District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ruled here several months ago the Supreme Court's decision that segregated schools are unconstitutional does not apply to public recreation facilities.

Supreme Court Hears Maryland On Integration

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Some of the problems of desegregation facing Maryland were outlined to the Supreme Court today by C. Ferdinand Sybert, Maryland attorney general. He also related Baltimore's experiences with integration of whites and Negroes in its schools.

Sybert addressed the court during arguments on how and when desegregation should be put into effect.

He was one of several attorneys general who spoke as a friend of the court. No case involving Maryland is before the court.

Sybert told the court that after its decision of last May 17 that segregation is unconstitutional one organization submitted petitions aimed at circumventing the decree. He said it had about 36,000 signers. He said two bills aimed at carrying out this group's program were introduced in the Legislature but died in committee.

The attorney general said he has received many, many letters outlining methods to circumvent the court's ruling or to implement it.

Sybert told the court that in Frederick County which has a Negro population of about seven per cent, the school board last fall ordered that three Negro students could ride a "white" school bus to a Negro school.

But, he said, the following day "irate parents" pursuaded the board to reverse itself.

He said Baltimore began desegregation last September, permitting elementary and high school students to attend any school of their choice except in a few instances where schools are overcrowded.

There were, he said, "some early difficulties." Students picketed schools and made some marches from school to school.

Sybert urged the court to allow Maryland sufficient time "to build a climate of goodwill at the local level" before requiring desegregation of its schools.

Youth Loses His Arm When Truck Upsets

SALISBURY, April 13 (AP)—Gerald Rogers Watson, 19, of Salisbury was reported in fairly satisfactory condition today after amputation of his left arm, mangled in a highway accident yesterday.

Watson was pinned under a truck after it went out of control on a sharp curve on the Shad Point road south of Salisbury and turned over in a field.

Four other persons in the cab of the truck with Watson were treated for lacerations and bruises. In 1905 he was appointed cashier, and on Sept. 1, 1954, was named executive vice president.

Storer College, State Funds Cut Off, Will Close Its Doors

HARPER'S FERRY, W. Va., April 13 (AP)—Little Storer College, cut off from an annual appropriation of $20,000 from the State of West Virginia, will suspend operations after the end of the current school year.

The Rev. L. F. Terrell, acting president, made the announcement today after an emergency meeting of the board of trustees. He said Storer would not attempt to operate next year, but may resume at some future date under a readjusted program.

Terrell at the same time announced his own resignation. He said he had asked that it be made effective June 30 and the board had accepted it, asking that he stay on until Aug. 31.

The West Virginia Legislature withdrew its annual appropriation from Storer because of the Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation in public schools, and the resultant policy of integration in State schools.

The Legislature said the appropriation was intended to finance studies by Negro students at Storer but is now unnecessary because Negroes now are eligible to enroll at other state colleges.

The enrollment at Storer has been exclusively Negro, although the charter does not specify any racial limitation.

The college was established in 1868. It had an enrollment of 88 students this year.

Terrell said the current school year would be completed and that students will have their credits certified for use in other schools.

The board of trustees called another meeting for May 25.

Dr. Clarence Cranford, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, Washington, is chairman of the board.

Terrell said the suspension was the direct result of the loss of the $20,000 with no sign of replacement. Substantial gifts would be needed to make up the difference, he said. An increase in student fees would not be sufficient.

Former Gov. Lane Leaves Hospital

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. of Maryland was discharged from Episcopal Eye Ear and Throat Hospital today, well along in his recovery from a delicate eye operation three weeks ago.

"He's just fine," the hospital reported.

Mrs. Lane drove down to return him to Hagerstown, Md., where he will complete his recuperation at home.

The operation was designed to correct a detached retina of the left eye. The surgery is intricate and the post-operative period was onerous because it involved bandages on both eyes and almost complete immobility for two weeks.

Three Indicted In Bank Shortage

BALTIMORE, April 13 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted William Arthur Leffler, 78, former executive vice president and director of the Citizens National Bank in Havre de Grace, on charges arising from a $43,000 shortage in bank funds.

Two other former employes of the Citizens National also were indicted. Aubrey N. Mitchell, 77, a former assistant cashier, was charged with three counts of false entry and William C. Bechtold, 65, a former bookkeeper, with one false entry count.

The shortage involved in both the Mitchell and Bechtold indictments was $8,500.

Leffler, former mayor of Havre de Grace, admitted the defalcation at the time of his arrest in January. He said the money was used to pay off obligations of a defunct building and loan association in which he was an official.

Leffler had worked for the bank since its organization April 25, 1900.

Maryland To Appeal Segregation Question

BALTIMORE, April 13 (AP)—Maryland decided today it will appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court the question of whether it may operate segregated facilities at Sandy Point State Park.

The resulting decision apparently could become the governing law for the entire country.

The State Commission on Forest and Parks agreed to ask for a reversal of a ruling by the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, which only yesterday gave Maryland until May 1 to appeal.

The city of Baltimore is involved in a companion case concerning the segregated beach at its Smallwood Municipal Park, also on Chesapeake Bay south of the city. The city has not yet announced whether it will appeal.

District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ruled here several months ago the Supreme Court's decision that segregated schools are unconstitutional does not apply to public recreation facilities.

Supreme Court Hears Maryland On Integration

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Some of the problems of desegregation facing Maryland were outlined to the Supreme Court today by C. Ferdinand Sybert, Maryland attorney general. He also related Baltimore's experiences with integration of whites and Negroes in its schools.

Sybert addressed the court during arguments on how and when desegregation should be put into effect.

He was one of several attorneys general who spoke as a friend of the court. No case involving Maryland is before the court.

Sybert told the court that after its decision of last May 17 that segregation is unconstitutional one organization submitted petitions aimed at circumventing the decree. He said it had about 36,000 signers. He said two bills aimed at carrying out this group's program were introduced in the Legislature but died in committee.

The attorney general said he has received many, many letters outlining methods to circumvent the court's ruling or to implement it.

Sybert told the court that in Frederick County which has a Negro population of about seven per cent, the school board last fall ordered that three Negro students could ride a "white" school bus to a Negro school.

But, he said, the following day "irate parents" pursuaded the board to reverse itself.

He said Baltimore began desegregation last September, permitting elementary and high school students to attend any school of their choice except in a few instances where schools are overcrowded.

There were, he said, "some early difficulties." Students picketed schools and made some marches from school to school.

Sybert urged the court to allow Maryland sufficient time "to build a climate of goodwill at the local level" before requiring desegregation of its schools.

Youth Loses His Arm When Truck Upsets

SALISBURY, April 13 (AP)—Gerald Rogers Watson, 19, of Salisbury was reported in fairly satisfactory condition today after amputation of his left arm, mangled in a highway accident yesterday.

Watson was pinned under a truck after it went out of control on a sharp curve on the Shad Point road south of Salisbury and turned over in a field.

Four other persons in the cab of the truck with Watson were treated for lacerations and bruises.

In 1905 he was appointed cashier, and on Sept. 1, 1954, was named executive vice president.

Storer College, State Funds Cut Off, Will Close Its Doors

HARPER'S FERRY, W. Va., April 13 (AP)—Little Storer College, cut off from an annual appropriation of $20,000 from the State of West Virginia, will suspend operations after the end of the current school year.

The Rev. L. F. Terrell, acting president, made the announcement today after an emergency meeting of the board of trustees. He said Storer would not attempt to operate next year, but may resume at some future date under a readjusted program.

Terrell at the same time announced his own resignation. He said he had asked that it be made effective June 30 and the board had accepted it, asking that he stay on until Aug. 31.

The West Virginia Legislature withdrew its annual appropriation from Storer because of the Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation in public schools, and the resultant policy of integration in State schools.

The Legislature said the appropriation was intended to finance studies by Negro students at Storer but is now unnecessary because Negroes now are eligible to enroll at other state colleges.

The enrollment at Storer has been exclusively Negro, although the charter does not specify any racial limitation.

The college was established in 1868. It had an enrollment of 88 students this year.

Terrell said the current school year would be completed and that students will have their credits certified for use in other schools.

The board of trustees called another meeting for May 25.

Dr. Clarence Cranford, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, Washington, is chairman of the board.

Terrell said the suspension was the direct result of the loss of the $20,000 with no sign of replacement. Substantial gifts would be needed to make up the difference, he said. An increase in student fees would not be sufficient.

Former Gov. Lane Leaves Hospital

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. of Maryland was discharged from Episcopal Eye Ear and Throat Hospital today, well along in his recovery from a delicate eye operation three weeks ago.

"He's just fine," the hospital reported.

Mrs. Lane drove down to return him to Hagerstown, Md., where he will complete his recuperation at home.

The operation was designed to correct a detached retina of the left eye. The surgery is intricate and the post-operative period was onerous because it involved bandages on both eyes and almost complete immobility for two weeks.

Cinerama Proves Powerful U. S. Weapon In Mid-East Propaganda Tilt With Reds

By ROGER D. GREENE
AP Writer

The first overseas showing of Cinerama was strictly a benefit performance, but it may have paid the biggest dividend in motion picture history.

It had a sensational effect on a hot propaganda skirmish in the Middle East. And it might very well have marked a turning point in at least one phase of the worldwide ideological struggle between communism and democracy.

The setting was the International Trade Fair last September at Damascus, Syria. The story began when all nations were invited to enter exhibits.

Washington at first turned down the invitation by saying no funds for trade fairs were available.

But Russia, already intensifying her propaganda effort in Syria, snapped up the invitation. Within 20 days after the announcement that the fair would be held, all Communist countries except China had entered. China signed up later.

The Russians put up a 3,500-square-yard pavilion with a 100-foot steeple, dominating the fairgrounds. Other Communist nations erected similarly pretentious structures in which to exhibit their products. China, starting late, built a pavilion even bigger than that of Russia.

The French had a modest exhibit. The Arab states built token pavilions. Otherwise, the non-Communist nations offered almost nothing.

Then, a few weeks before the fair opened, Harris Peel, information officer at the Damascus American Embassy, hit upon the idea of entering Cinerama as the best one-shot exhibit of American ways. At the last minute, approval came from Washington.

Cinerama, Inc., agreed to stage the show at cost. The Air Force flew equipment from New York, Munich, Istanbul and Saudi Arabia. An Arab was flown to the United States to do the soundtrack in Arabic.

To say that the widescreen travelogue was a success would be putting it modestly, even by non-Hollywood standards.

Tickets to the full capacity of the outdoor arena were provided free of charge, but once handed out they sold on the black market for up to 10 Syrian pounds ($3.50). Crowds fought wherever passes were handed out.

Thousands of spectators hung nightly from trees outside the roofless enclosure. A counterfeiting ring printed fake tickets.

The United States information center barred its doors and posted special guards to keep crowds from storming the building in quest of nonexistent tickets.

When the fair finally closed its gates, the over-all result was hard to gauge. It took place during an election campaign, and some observers credited the exhibits of Russian products with having helped elect the first Communist deputy in the history of Arab world parliaments.

But the Russians failed to get an immediate economic foothold in the area. They sold everything they exhibited, but that ended it. There was no repeat business.

A Syrian who bought a Russian automobile during the fair would now like to sell it. He can get no replacement parts.

One aspect of the competition stood out:

Cinerama was the sensation of an event that otherwise would have been strictly a Communist show. And it may have brought on what appears to be a tendency by American information officials to take a second look at international trade fairs in general. There are plans to enter American exhibits in a number of international shows.

Thai Premier, Trouble-Shooter For Ike Have Much In Common

By OLEN CLEMENTS

BANGKOK, Thailand, April 13 (AP)—Down the 18-mile old elephant trail to Bangkok's airport glided two smart new cars—a Mercedes-Benz and a Ford Thunderbird.

In front of the VIP entrance the two cars braked to a stop. From the Mercedes-Benz stepped grim Premier P. Pibulsonggram, next to King Phumiphon Aduldet, the most powerful man in Thailand. Out of the Thunderbird stepped U. S. Ambassador John Peurifoy, diplomatic trouble-shooter for President Eisenhower.

They smiled and shook hands.

They have much in common. Both like sport cars and are proud of their new ones. And in the battle to keep Southeast Asia out of Communist hands stand on common ground as vigorous foes of communism.

They were at the airport to greet a visiting dignitary from another Asian neighbor — the Premier of Cambodia.

Tomorrow Pibulsonggram returns to the airport to fly eastward on his first visit to the United States, where his youngest daughter is a student at the Rhode Island School of Design.

Pibulsonggram is 57. He has been premier, off and on, since 1938.

He was an ally of Japan in World War II. His bitter foe, Nai Pridi Phanomyong, Thailand's first postwar premier, led the Thai resistance which cooperated with the Allies throughout the war.

Today Pridi, ousted from Thailand, is in Red China as head of an announced liberation movement which Pibulsonggram says has 20,000 troops ready to strike at Thailand.

Pibulsenggram first became prominent in this kingdom of 19 million in October 1933. A bloodless antiroyalist revolution had replaced feudalism with constitutional government. Then a royalist group tried to overthrow the new regime. Pibulsonggram, a lieutenant colonel in the army, led in putting down the uprising.

He became defense minister, deputy commander in chief of the army, and the accepted leader of Thailand's military caste. As premier in 1938 he made friends with Japan. In 1940-41 he went to war with France in neighboring Indochina. With Tokyo's backing he won four provinces from the Kingdom of Cabdodia. Nonimally he sided with the Allies until Pearl Harbor. But his troops fought only a few hours after Japan struck. Pibulsonggram submitted to a Japanese ultimatum and ordered his troops to lay down their arms.

Rival Pridi, a Paris-trained lawyer, became regent for King Ananda, then a 15-year-old schoolboy in Switzerland, and leader of the underground Free Thai movement. In 1944 the Free Thai forces compelled Pibulsonggram to resign. At the end of the war he was in national disrepute.

But Pridi had a rough time as premier. Corruption in his regime became rampant. His followers split. Then in 1946 King Ananda Mahidol was shot to death. Pridi tried to explain it as an accident but the people believed the young King had been murdered.

Pridi had to step down. While the economic situation also deteriorated, Pibulsonggram and his followers were making plans. In 1947 his bloodless coup d'etat returned the old military group to control. Pridi was driven from the country, Pibulsonggram resumed the premiership.

The road back has not been smooth. Pridi in 1949 led an abortive coup which seized the grand palace before it [illegible] during ceremonies marking the delivery of a dredge boat from the United States, a group of naval officers kidnaped Pibulsonggram before the eyes of U. S. Ambassador Edwin F. Stanton. But the Premier was too hot to hold and he was released after one night.

The Premier's strength has diminished somewhat from its high. Although he is defense minister, the army is under Gen. Srisdi Dhanarajata's guidance. Another powerful man is Gen. Phao Sriyanond, national police chief.

Accompanying Pibulsonggram on his tour will be his wife La-iad and Gen. Momluang Kharb Kunjara, director of Thai public relations. He will visit Manila, Tokyo and Seoul before going to Honolulu, San Francisco, New York and Washington. He plans to proceed to Europe and the Middle East, returning to Bangkok June 26.

Adenauer Sees Russia Yielding To United Europe

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said in a magazine article today that "perhaps the Soviets will be willing to talk reasonably" after a united Europe, built upon the Paris agreement, has been achieved.

"It is my conviction that all dealings with the Soviet Union must be based on strength," Adenauer wrote in the Saturday Evening Post, and "I believe that America and a united Europe will be strong enough to command the respect of the Russians."

The present cold war cannot remain static forever, the German chancellor said.

"I believe we must strive for a normalization of East-West relations by every possible means," he declared. "For Germany a special aspect of normalization is the reunification of her Eastern and Western zones.

"The Soviet government has repeatedly suggested the organization of a security system. If that is an honest offer, I can see no objection, once normalization has been achieved, to the NATO and Brussels countries' offering to set up some all-round security system. Such an arrangement should contain agreements on limitation of troop strengths and on armament control."

Adenauer said "one thing we are not prepared to gamble with is our freedom. Any deal based merely on Soviet promise unsupported by Western guarantees is out of the question."

On the question of rearming Germany under the Paris agreements, Adenauer had this to say:

"I have the impression, from talking to friends abroad, that they are most anxious for us to have 12 strong divisions, but that they recoil at anything remotely resembling a tough military organization. I must point out that it is not easy to turn out a strong, competent fighting force and keep it looking like a Sunday-school soccer team."

Adenauer belittled the chances of a Nazi revival in Germany, saying, "the fact is that overnight everything smacking of Nazis was rejected by the Germans. Today not a single overt neo-Nazi organization exists."

It's Difficult To Tell Time At Watch Makers' Exhibit

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP) — If you want to know what time it is, a good place not to be is at the American watch makers exhibit that opened recently in the Commerce Department lobby.

Every nook is given over to showing what the watch makers are up to, and it appears they are up to plenty.

The exhibit shows the timing arrangements for antiaircraft guided missiles, the watch makers' role in making drift sights, magnetic compasses, linear indicators and gun camera timers, and, best of all, Princess Little Thunder, a Chippewas Indian from Rolla, N.D.

Oh, yes, plenty of watches, too, including those worn by Washington, Lincoln and Napoleon's Josephine.

But none of them, historical or modern, was running.

"Let's look at it this way," said Robert W. Danielson, a Flushing, N.Y., watch company executive. "If we had these things running, we couldn't possibly keep them together, so all we would have would be confusion.

"Anyway, the idea we're trying to put across is this:

"When we talk of the skilled worker, and how important he is to this country's defense, we don't mean the worker who can put together a watch or a precision instrument. We mean the toolmaker who can make the machine that makes tiny parts accurate enough for precision instruments."

Here Danielson pointed to a thimble filled with what appeared to be brass dust. It wasn't, though. The thimble had, by Danielson's count, 25,000 screws.

"Think," Danielson said, "of the precision needed in the machines that make these."

Before any serious thinking could be done of this subject, Danielson led the way to Princess Little Thunder, all dolled up in a head feather, an Indian robe and moccasins, and operating a complicated looking machine.

She does the same thing back in Rolla, only there she wears ordinary clothes and answers to the name of Dorothy Dauphinais.

Danielson said she illustrates why this nation should keep on hand a fine supply of skilled workmen—and workwomen.

During World War II, he said, the supply of jewels used in precision instruments and watches was cut off. Pretty serious, he said, since a bomber flies on around 4,000 jewels.

Well, several companies started fabricating jewels, but once peace broke out, they stopped it, since it again was more economical to import the stuff from Switzerland.

But the Defense Department figured it might be a good idea to keep a plant capable of turning out the jewels, which explains how North Dakota landed its only defense plant.

The Turtle Mountain ordnance plant employs 105 persons, of whom 95 are Indians, including Little Thunder. "The Indians," Danielson said, "proved to have great finger dexterity."

"Civilianizing" Policy Pushed By Iran's Shah

Editor's Note: Don Schwind served as Associated Press correspondent in Iran during the turbulent period of the oil dispute and the military revolt which brought Gen. Zahedi to power as Premier. He is now reporting Middle East developments from Cairo.

By DON SCHWIND

CAIRO, Egypt, April 13 (AP)—The Shah's substitution of diplomat Hussein Ala for his "iron general" Fazollah Zahedi is a victory for the monarch's policy of toning down military aspects of the Iranian regime.

It is also smart politics. The trustiest stock in trade of the government opposition has long been the charge that the country, in dumping Mohammed Mossadegh, merely exchanged one dictator for another.

In recent months there have been signs that the Shah is slowly pushing forward his policy of making the country more like a normal civilian organization than an armed camp.

Although Tehran is still under martial law, all but a few troops have been removed from the main street corners.

The Shah's desire to take the accent off the gun has met stiff opposition within the Army, whose morale was shaken last summer by the discovery that at least 600 officers were working hand in glove with Communist colleagues in a plot to get rid of Zahedi.

Zahedi's unpopularity with some sections of the officers corps stemmed from these causes:

1. "The Old Man," as he is known in Army circles, has long been noted for a sometimes exaggerated sense of loyalty. This led him to restore to the Army a number of officers fired by Mossadegh, despite the fact that some were tossed out for incompetence.

2. Zahedi went down the line in supporting several long-needed reforms proposed by his American military advisers.

At least one was fought tooth and nail by the powerful officer corps elements. It would give competent men in the ranks a chance to rise to commissioned status. The officer corps is virtually a private preserve for the country's big families and upper social strata.

3. Zahedi, while personally charming at a tea party or dinner table, is a poor spellbinder in a nation which loves a colorful political figure of the Mossadegh type.

Zahedi's gout, which his personal physician described as "one of the worst cases I have seen," has kept the Premier bedridden up to four days at a time since last summer. But there are indications Ala also is ill and may go to Europe for treatment, leaving effective control of the government in the hands of Finance Minister Ali Amini, one of the strongest political figures in Iran since Mossadegh.

If the Shah intends to push his "civilianizing" policy to the limit without sacrificing Army support, Amini might get an extended opportunity in which to show his stuff.

Dream House He Won Gets Blame For Jail Sentence

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 13 (AP)—In 1948 Russell L. Brand won a $60,000 dream house. His address today is Los Angeles County jail.

Brand, now 47, blames it on the dream house.

His attorney explained in Santa Monica Superior Court how financial pressure mounted on Brand after he won the home in a contest. He had to mortgage the house for $15,000.

Business losses put Brand deeper in debt, led him into other difficulties and, the attorney indicated, brought him into used car deals which ended with Brand's plea of guilty to a charge of grand theft.

The court dismissed three other grand theft counts and sentenced Brand to six months in jail.

The house?

Brand said he sold it—to pay his creditors.

Coppers Lose But Market Hits Another Record High

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Coppers took a drubbing today as the stock market advanced to its second straight new record high.

Losses ran to between 1 and 3 points in the copper group after the British government indicated readiness to sell 45,000 tons of the metal from its stockpile.

No such pronounced backwardness was found in any other major group, although minus signs were liberally distributed in the list. Gains of 1 to 3 points were frequent throughout.

Motors made the best showing with Chrysler leading the advancing parade. Strength in a handful of key railroad stocks boosted that division.

American Tobacco raised prices on a couple of its brands and added a point at 69⅞. Reynolds Tobacco "B" on a good earnings showing was up 1⅛ at 43⅛.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 40 cents at $163.70. It was up $1.30 yesterday. The average now stands at its highest level. The previous high set March 4 was surpassed yesterday.

The industrial component of the average today gained 20 cents at a new record high of $220.80 railroads were up 70 cents at a new high since 1929 of $133.70, and the utilities were up 30 cents at $71.80.

Zahedi's gout, which his personal physician described as "one of the worst cases I have seen," has kept the Premier bedridden up to four days at a time since last summer. But there are indications Ala also is ill and may go to Europe for treatment, leaving effective control of the government in the hands of Finance Minister Ali Amini, one of the strongest political figures in Iran since Mossadegh.

If the Shah intends to push his "civilianizing" policy to the limit without sacrificing Army support, Amini might get an extended opportunity in which to show his stuff.

Coppers Lose But Market Hits Another Record High

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Coppers took a drubbing today as the stock market advanced to its second straight new record high.

Losses ran to between 1 and 3 points in the copper group after the British government indicated readiness to sell 45,000 tons of the metal from its stockpile.

No such pronounced backwardness was found in any other major group, although minus signs were liberally distributed in the list. Gains of 1 to 3 points were frequent throughout.

Motors made the best showing with Chrysler leading the advancing parade. Strength in a handful of key railroad stocks boosted that division.

American Tobacco raised prices on a couple of its brands and added a point at 69⅞. Reynolds Tobacco "B" on a good earnings showing was up 1⅛ at 43⅛.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 40 cents at $163.70. It was up $1.30 yesterday. The average now stands at its highest level. The previous high set March 4 was surpassed yesterday.

The industrial component of the average today gained 20 cents at a new record high of $220.80 railroads were up 70 cents at a new high since 1929 of $133.70, and the utilities were up 30 cents at $71.80.

Cresap DAR Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary

The 50th anniversary of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was celebrated at its meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. R. Kellough Sr., 800 Washington Street. Mrs. John M. Robb was co-hostess.

The chapter was given its charter April 6, 1905. Mrs. Beverly Randolph, Frostburg, was organizing regent and the name was chosen to honor Thomas Cresap, area patriot. According to the record the name was chosen to honor four Cresaps who served with distinction in the Colonial Wars, one in the Revolution.

Mrs. Clara Porter Frost, only living charter member, was the honor guest.

Mrs. John Findlay opened the meeting with the objects of the DAR, followed by the flag salute. Mrs. William Rankin, chaplain, gave a prayer especially for the chapter's 50th anniversary, and the group recited the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Marshall Miller read the president-general's message. Detailed reports from the delegates to the state convention held in Baltimore last month were given by Mrs. Finley Thompson, Mrs. Findlay, Miss Ruth Clauson and Miss Mary Brengle.

Mrs. Thompson has been appointed to the state Board of the DAR, as chairman of Good Citizen.

An election of officers was held with Mrs. Robb being elected regent; Miss Clauson, vice regent; Mrs. Lawrence Nugent, recording secretary; Mrs. Thompson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arch Hutcheson, treasurer; Mrs. Kellough, registrar, Mrs. Findlay, chaplain. Two members were elected to the advisory board, Mrs. R. L. Van Newkirk and Miss Ida Brandler.

The chapter presented Mrs. Findlay with a 25-year pin instead of giving her the regular gift of a past regent's pin. She was regent from 1934 until 1937 and 1952 until 1955 and has been a member for 30 years.

The table centerpiece was of white snapdragons and blue carnations using the DAR colors of blue and white. The birthday cake was white, trimmed with yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Kellough used parrot tulips and jonquils for floral decoration.

The next meeting will be held at the Historical Society Home, Washington Street, with Miss Ruth Clauson and Mrs. William Edwards co-hostesses.

Other members present were Mrs. Joseph Lichtenstein, Mrs. Paul Glime, Mrs. F. O. Armstrong, Miss Ella Hodgson, Miss Fan Lloyd, Miss Lydia Millman, Mrs. Albert Paye, Mrs. Walter Pierce and Mrs. Charles Willison.

DAR HONOR GUEST — Mrs. Clara Porter Frost, only living charter member of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, cuts the anniversary cake at the celebration of the event yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A reducing diet should work not only toward the loss of weight. It should also work toward beauty in other ways.

How much good does the loss of poundage do if the dieter also loses the sparkle in her eye, the petal softness of her skin, the sprightliness of her step?

Certainly the scales grow kinder when less is eaten of fattening foods. But so much depends on what you eat; and the lighter the intake of food, the more important it is that every bite count toward feeling and looking your best.

The right diet keeps you active and attractive while the pounds diminish. And as the right foods are eaten and the right weight established, there's a lift that comes not only from an improving figure, but with improvement in skin and hair and the feeling of alert well-being. We've seen this so often in my laboratory, which was the testing ground for the slimming program outlined in my booklet, "Your Beauty Diet" (for details see below). Of course, it was aimed point blank at just such results.

Summer's coming up soon now, when it's hardest to live with extra pounds. More outdoor activity begins, and a vacation's not too far away. All this adds up to the need for a plus-program of preparation.

A diet that does no more than reduce isn't enough.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem—whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Cresap DAR Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary

The 50th anniversary of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was celebrated at its meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. E. R. Kellough Sr., 800 Washington Street. Mrs. John M. Robb was co-hostess.

The chapter was given its charter April 6, 1905. Mrs. Beverly Randolph, Frostburg, was organizing regent and the name was chosen to honor Thomas Cresap, area patriot. According to the record the name was chosen to honor four Cresaps who served with distinction in the Colonial Wars, one in the Revolution.

Mrs. Clara Porter Frost, only living charter member, was the honor guest.

Mrs. John Findlay opened the meeting with the objects of the DAR, followed by the flag salute. Mrs. William Rankin, chaplain, gave a prayer especially for the chapter's 50th anniversary, and the group recited the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Marshall Miller read the president-general's message. Detailed reports from the delegates to the state convention held in Baltimore last month were given by Mrs. Finley Thompson, Mrs. Findlay, Miss Ruth Clauson and Miss Mary Brengle.

Mrs. Thompson has been appointed to the state Board of the DAR, as chairman of Good Citizen.

An election of officers was held with Mrs. Robb being elected regent; Miss Clauson, vice regent; Mrs. Lawrence Nugent, recording secretary; Mrs. Thompson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arch Hutcheson, treasurer; Mrs. Kellough, registrar, Mrs. Findlay, chaplain. Two members were elected to the advisory board, Mrs. R. L. Van Newkirk and Miss Ida Brandler.

The chapter presented Mrs. Findlay with a 25-year pin instead of giving her the regular gift of a past regent's pin. She was regent from 1934 until 1937 and 1952 until 1955 and has been a member for 30 years.

The table centerpiece was of white snapdragons and blue carnations using the DAR colors of blue and white. The birthday cake was white, trimmed with yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Kellough used parrot tulips and jonquils for floral decoration.

The next meeting will be held at the Historical Society Home, Washington Street, with Miss Ruth Clauson and Mrs. William Edwards co-hostesses.

Other members present were Mrs. Joseph Lichtenstein, Mrs. Paul Glime, Mrs. F. O. Armstrong, Miss Ella Hodgson, Miss Fan Lloyd, Miss Lydia Millman, Mrs. Albert Paye, Mrs. Walter Pierce and Mrs. Charles Willison.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A reducing diet should work not only toward the loss of weight. It should also work toward beauty in other ways.

How much good does the loss of poundage do if the dieter also loses the sparkle in her eye, the petal softness of her skin, the sprightliness of her step?

Certainly the scales grow kinder when less is eaten of fattening foods. But so much depends on what you eat; and the lighter the intake of food, the more important it is that every bite count toward feeling and looking your best.

The right diet keeps you active and attractive while the pounds diminish. And as the right foods are eaten and the right weight established, there's a lift that comes not only from an improving figure, but with improvement in skin and hair and the feeling of alert well-being. We've seen this so often in my laboratory, which was the testing ground for the slimming program outlined in my booklet, "Your Beauty Diet" (for details see below). Of course, it was aimed point blank at just such results.

Summer's coming up soon now, when it's hardest to live with extra pounds. More outdoor activity begins, and a vacation's not too far away. All this adds up to the need for a plus-program of preparation.

A diet that does no more than reduce isn't enough.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem—whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Every entertainer on the Strip did an act. Can you imagine a program with Ray Bolger, Mindy Carson, Billy Daniels, Billy Eckstine, Frankie Laine, Wilbur Evans, Virginia Cherry, Joe E. Lewis, the Ink Spots and Guy Cherney!

To top all this off, there was a terrific act called "Seven of a Kind," written by Sid Kuller and acted by seven comics — Larry Storch, Hank Henry, Billy Gray, Henny Youngman, Lenny Kent, Jack Leonard, Bobby Sargent and Stan Irwin, who was also an amusing master of ceremonies. The best part of the whole thing is that Variety Tent 39 raised over $12,000. They've already built a hospital for crippled children. Now they're planning a world wide tour.

Two Transfers Reported By Celanese Corporation

Benjamin H. Sands, assistant manager of personnel at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Corporation of America, has been transferred in the same capacity to the company's Celriver plant, Rock Hill, S. C.

Named to replace Sands here is Hudson Nix who has been serving in the same position at the Rome, Ga., plant.

Sands was promoted to assistant manager of personnel in February, 1953. He joined the personnel department in September 1951 as supervisor of labor relations. Following his employment with Amcelle in July 1946, he served in the engineering department in estimating and later in handling engineering labor problems as assistant to the plant engineer.

Before coming with Celanese he served as staff supervisor of outfitting trades with the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company. In 1944 he entered the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and was assigned to various divisions within the United States. At the close of the war he was a warrant officer responsible for disposal of termination inventory in the Denver, Colo. Engineer District.

In 1939 he graduated from Cornell University with a B.S. degree in administrative engineering.

Sands is a member of the Cumberland Rotary Club, the Cumberland Engineers' Club and Potomac Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is active in the LaVale Baptist Church and is vice moderator of the Western Baptist Association.

Mrs. Sands and their four sons—Robert, Richard, McCalla and Donald—will join him at Rock Hill after the completion of the school term in June.

During his employment at the Rome Plant, Nix became quite well-known as a free lance writer. His articles have appeared in This Week, American, Liberty and Textile World. Some of the articles which appeared in This Week have been incorporated in high school text books published by MacMillan and Company.

Nix was active in the civic and religious life of the community in Rome. A member of the Kiwanis Club, he served as chairman of the Vocational Guidance and Public Relations committees. For the past five years he served as publicity chairman for the Red Cross and for several years in this capacity for the Community Chest.

Following his attendance at North Georgia College at Dahlonega, Ga., Nix started at the Rome plant 22 years ago when it was part of the Tubize Corporation.

Nix plans to move his wife and daughter to Cumberland as soon as he finds suitable accommodations.

Four Persons Hurt In Two-Car Crash; Store Is Damaged

Four persons were injured late Tuesday night in an automobile collision which also resulted in damage to the Barton Dairy Store at the corner of North Centre and Valley streets.

Police identified the drivers as Wilson Charles Berkey, 48, Valley Road, who pleaded guilty to a state motor charge yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court and was fined $50.75, and Paul C. Semanchek, 22, RD 1, Latrobe, Pa. Both escaped harm.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital was Mary Alvarez, 36, of 218 Glenn Street, a passenger in the Berkey car, who suffered injuries of both legs, and Robert Pyles, 23, also of Latrobe. The latter, riding with Semanchek, was hurt about the back and head. Others injured were:

Robert Junior Pyles, 21 months, and five-year-old Nadine Pyles, children of Mrs. Francis Pyles. They received facial injuries.

Officer Kenneth Morrissey said Semanchek was headed north on Centre Street when the crash occurred at 11:55 p. m. Berkey, headed west on Valley Street, failed to stop at the intersection. He gave this account:

Berkey hit the right front of the Semanchek machine, forcing it up on a sidewalk and against the store. Several bricks were knocked loose from the building.

Building Permits Total $164,758

Building permit figures revealed yesterday by the building engineer show $164,758 estimated for construction here last month.

Involved are 10 permits for new construction and 14 for additions and improvements.

In March, 1954, there were 13 permits issued with a total valuation of $41,550. In February of this year, six permits were estimated at $217,350.

St. Mary's Seniors On Washington Trip

An accumulation of four years of nickels and dimes gathered from bake and candy sales and other class projects has made it possible for the 12 seniors of St. Mary's High School to spend a vacation in Washington together.

The Senior Class accompanied by their chaperones left Tuesday and will return tomorrow. They are accompanied by Mrs. William F. Staarman and Mrs. Michael Franze, mothers of two of the seniors.

The class is comprised of Jean Andrews, Joan Bender, Barbara Decker, Catherine Franze, Catherine Haselberger, Rosalie Holshey, Joan Jones, Margie Plummer, Hazel Phillips, Barbara Shanholtz, Mary Lee Spicer and Mary Martha Staarman.

Money for the trip planned when they were freshmen was raised from their candy and bake sales, promotions of square dances and other parties, and from some of the tips received from serving tables at dinners at St. Mary's Hall.

Two Transfers Reported By Celanese Corporation

Benjamin H. Sands, assistant manager of personnel at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Corporation of America, has been transferred in the same capacity to the company's Celriver plant, Rock Hill, S. C.

Named to replace Sands here is Hudson Nix who has been serving in the same position at the Rome, Ga., plant.

Sands was promoted to assistant manager of personnel in February, 1953. He joined the personnel department in September 1951 as supervisor of labor relations. Following his employment with Amcelle in July 1946, he served in the engineering department in estimating and later in handling engineering labor problems as assistant to the plant engineer.

Before coming with Celanese he served as staff supervisor of outfitting trades with the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company. In 1944 he entered the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and was assigned to various divisions within the United States. At the close of the war he was a warrant officer responsible for disposal of termination inventory in the Denver, Colo. Engineer District.

In 1939 he graduated from Cornell University with a B.S. degree in administrative engineering.

Sands is a member of the Cumberland Rotary Club, the Cumberland Engineers' Club and Potomac Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is active in the LaVale Baptist Church and is vice moderator of the Western Baptist Association.

Mrs. Sands and their four sons—Robert, Richard, McCalla and Donald—will join him at Rock Hill after the completion of the school term in June.

During his employment at the Rome Plant, Nix became quite well-known as a free lance writer. His articles have appeared in This Week, American, Liberty and Textile World. Some of the articles which appeared in This Week have been incorporated in high school text books published by MacMillan and Company.

Nix was active in the civic and religious life of the community in Rome. A member of the Kiwanis Club, he served as chairman of the Vocational Guidance and Public Relations committees. For the past five years he served as publicity chairman for the Red Cross and for several years in this capacity for the Community Chest.

Following his attendance at North Georgia College at Dahlonega, Ga., Nix started at the Rome plant 22 years ago when it was part of the Tubize Corporation.

Nix plans to move his wife and daughter to Cumberland as soon as he finds suitable accommodations.

Four Persons Hurt In Two-Car Crash; Store Is Damaged

Four persons were injured late Tuesday night in an automobile collision which also resulted in damage to the Barton Dairy Store at the corner of North Centre and Valley streets.

Police identified the drivers as Wilson Charles Berkey, 48, Valley Road, who pleaded guilty to a state motor charge yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court and was fined $50.75, and Paul C. Semanchek, 22, RD 1, Latrobe, Pa. Both escaped harm.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital was Mary Alvarez, 36, of 218 Glenn Street, a passenger in the Berkey car, who suffered injuries of both legs, and Robert Pyles, 25, also of Latrobe. The latter, riding with Semanchek, was hurt about the back and head. Others injured were:

Robert Junior Pyles, 21 months, and five-year-old Nadine Pyles, children of Mrs. Francis Pyles. They received facial injuries.

Officer Kenneth Morrissey said Semanchek was headed north on Centre Street when the crash occurred at 11:55 p. m. Berkey, headed west on Valley Street, failed to stop at the intersection. He gave this account:

Berkey hit the right front of the Semanchek machine, forcing it up on a sidewalk and against the store. Several bricks were knocked loose from the building.

Building Permits Total $164,758

Building permit figures revealed yesterday by the building engineer show $164,758 estimated for construction here last month.

Involved are 10 permits for new construction and 14 for additions and improvements.

In March, 1954, there were 13 permits issued with a total valuation of $41,550. In February of this year, six permits were estimated at $217,350.

St. Mary's Seniors On Washington Trip

An accumulation of four years of nickels and dimes gathered from bake and candy sales and other class projects has made it possible for the 12 seniors of St. Mary's High School to spend a vacation in Washington together.

The Senior Class accompanied by their chaperones left Tuesday and will return tomorrow. They are accompanied by Mrs. William F. Staarman and Mrs. Michael Franze, mothers of two of the seniors.

The class is comprised of Jean Andrews, Joan Bender, Barbara Decker, Catherine Franze, Catherine Haselberger, Rosalie Holshey, Joan Jones, Margie Plummer, Hazel Phillips, Barbara Shanholtz, Mary Lee Spicer and Mary Martha Staarman.

Money for the trip planned when they were freshmen was raised from their candy and bake sales, promotions of square dances and other parties, and from some of the tips received from serving tables at dinners at St. Mary's Hall.

Local GI Discharged

Army Cpl. John P. Goetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goetz, 701 Fayette Street, was separated from active military service last week at Fort Meade. He served with the 363d Ordnance Company in Korea. His wife, Mrs. Mary Ann Goetz, resides at 8 Anderson Street.

Area Driver Fined

Dr. D. R. Sipes, 62, of Everett, Pa., was fined $125 and costs Tuesday in Trial Magistrates Court after he pleaded guilty to two state motor charges. His car struck a parked auto on Bedford Street the night of April 2.

MADRID, April 13 (INS) — Generalissimo Franco is building in the snow-capped mountains just outside Madrid a war memorial, and perhaps personal tomb, on a scale hardly equalled since the construction 47 centuries ago of the Cheops pyramid. The dictator chose the site and drew the original designs.

Topped by the largest cross ever constructed, a granite symbol whose upright column is almost as tall as the Washington monument, the costly and well-guarded memorial will be known when opened to the public as El Valle de Los Caidos, literally the Valley of the Fallen. The Franco government estimates a million military and civilian followers of the nationalist cause lost their lives in the civil war of 1936-39.

Such remains of the dead followers of Franco's victorious Falange Espanola Tradicionalista as can be reclaimed will be reburied in a tremendous basilica being built in a tunnel blasted through the pyramid-shaped peak which supports the towering cross. The mountain rises from the floor of a lush valley reaching deviously out of Madrid and ending abruptly at this and higher rises behind the memorial mountain. These loftier peaks serve as a backdrop for the titanic cross and make it visible for many miles before one reaches the dedicated area.

Inside the tunnel, which is longer than St. Peter's in Rome and almost as high-ceilinged, scores of drillers were at work on the rugged stone when, according to Gabriel Soria, Spain's representative of the Radio Corporation of America, my wife and I became the first newspaper people to visit the scene.

In contrast to the chattering drills, sculptors worked painstakingly at the wall coverings that follow in the wake of the gougers: Notably a sensitive scene depicting the dead of Toledo's besieged Alcazar marching out behind the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. Men pushed dump buckets of cement along mine-like train-rails. Above the clatter and roar, Soria, a product of the University of Southern California and a former movie director, answered a few questions.

"This represents a different point of view from your American view," he said. "This is a way of saying that, sometimes, a book is more nourishing than food bought at the same cost. When the general (Franco) defeated the Reds he was given great amounts of money by the people of Spain. There were no strings attached. He could have spent it on himself if he had chosen.

"But he felt it was proper to erect something that would honor those who fell and become, for the next thousand years or so, a symbol against Communism. He personally scouted the Madrid area and selected this site. He paints, you know, and knew what he wanted, and so it was comparatively easy for him to set the pattern."

Soria estimated the eventual cost might run about $7,000,000. Other Spaniards say that $75,000,000 is a more accurate figure, and add that prison labor has been used and Franco will be buried at the tip of one wing of the cross and Jose Antonio, founder/martyr of the Falange, at the other. Soria doesn't think much of these reports and suggested that if prison labor was being used it was odd there were no guards about the busy workers.

Suffice it to say the place already is overpowering and when completed will rate with Felipe II's Escorial and the treasures of Toledo as a prime tourist attraction. The cross, its base, piazzo and monk's quarters behind the cross appear deceptively modest in size as one approaches. Up close the effect is astonishing. The piazzo is as large as St. Peter's; the monk's quarters almost like a Pentagon. From the floor of the submerged basilica straight up to the tip of the cross is about 600 feet.

Enormous statues of the evangelists huddle at the 4-sided base of the cross. My wife and I reached that level by way of an open walled elevator which we shared with a vast bucket of cement. In a smaller elevator we rose in strained silence through the core of the cross to the height of the wings and climbed out on the huge left bar. It sways a mite in the wind and there is little to hold on to. If the generalissimo wants a restful hereafter we'd advise him not to choose this as his final resting place, but it can't be denied that El Valle de los Caidos one day will become one of the wonders of the world of tourism.

Postman Has Right To Kick Vicious Dog In Self-Defense

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The Civil Service Commission board of appeals ruled today, in effect, that it is all right for a postman to kick a vicious dog in self-defense.

This was in the case of Robert W. Milligan, a Bartlesville, Okla., letter carrier who had an awful lot of trouble with dogs on his route, and got fired for what he did about it.

John E. Blann, chairman of the appeals board, overruled a regional civil service board which had approved Milligan's sacking by the Post Office Department. The appeals board recommended that he be restored to duty.

Blann wrote the Post Office Department that the "preponderance of evidence" indicated that "the dogs mentioned are known to have vicious habits."

"The question of a dog's size is immaterial," he wrote. "The bite of a small dog can be equally as serious as the bite of a large dog.

"The principal evidence that Mr. Milligan kicked the dogs in question are the statements of Mr. Milligan himself. That part of his testimony was evidently accepted by the Post Office Department and the patrons whose dogs were allegedly kicked.

"Yet, his testimony that he kicked the dogs after having been bitten and for defensive purposes was apparently disregarded. The record indicates that these dogs are generally permitted to run unleashed and either have bitten or have attempted to bite other individuals.

"Mr. Milligan's defense is that, on the occasions alleged, he was taking necessary protective action. This defense has not been refuted."

Alleged instances of nondelivery of mail, Blann said, were not shown to be in violation of postal regulations which provide that delivery need not be made to addresses where dogs interfere.

While many U. S. states have legal codes based on the common law of England, a system of laws more nearly related to the Code Napoleon used in Louisiana which, together with certain other Southern states, never adopted the English law.

Divorce Case Back In Court Of Appeals

ANNAPOLIS, April 13 (AP) — The divorce case of a former Frederick County couple was back in the Maryland Court of Appeals today, with Kingman Brewster seeking recognition of an absolute divorce granted him in Arkansas.

His attorneys attacked a Frederick County Circuit Court decision of last September which, among other things:

Held his divorce from Theo Urch Brewster in Arkansas is void; he must pay $5,600 in back alimony; he must transfer certain shares of stock and personalty to his wife; refused to grant a reduction in alimony granted under an earlier proceeding; held him in contempt of previous orders granting $400 a month alimony and enjoining him from proceeding with the Arkansas case.

The proceedings originally began in 1950.

The appeals court more than a year ago ordered the Frederick County court to decide on the validity of the Arkansas divorce and other matters. Brewster's wife was again upheld.

Curtis C. Larrimore Dies At College Park

Curtis C. Larrimore, 58, senior instructor for the Fire Service Extension of the University of Maryland, died Tuesday in College Park after a few days illness, according to information received by David Kirk, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Larrimore had conducted many fire schools and supervised the training of hundreds of volunteer firemen in Allegany and Garrett counties in the past several years.

His last visit to this section was on April 1 when he conducted final examinations for fire schools at Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Deer Park and Clarysville fire companies.

Before becoming ill, he had indicated he would attend the smoker of the Allegany-Garrett firemen's group Saturday in Barton.

A resident of Easton, Mr. Larrimore was a former member of the Board of Trustees of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Capt. Quarry complimented M/Sgt. George Wells on his records and recruiting activity. He said the station here ranks high in percentage of recruitments.

Arrests of people under 18 years old in the United States have increased 430 per cent since 1950.

Jury Weighs

Sheriff Paul M. Fisher stated he had given DeWitt paper and pen while the latter was lodged in jail awaiting trial after his indictment by the March grand jury.

Sheriff Fisher read this part of the DeWitt statement:

"I came home on the night of the murder between 9 p. m. and midnight, drunk and sick from drinking. I went into my house and into my bedroom. Sometime later I heard the baby crying in another room and in a fit of temper stuck a bottle into its mouth and covered her head with a blanket."

Denies Confession

DeWitt took the stand to deny that the statements contained in his "confession" were true. In a low voice, the thin defendant claimed the confession was written in jail with the help of Sheriff Fisher, Lichliter and Ralph Duke.

The statement he wrote is not true, DeWitt declared. He said he made it as State's Attorney Stephen R. Pagenhardt told him he would "give me a break" and "leave me off light" if he did.

DeWitt told the court he did not want to do any more time for a crime that he did not commit.

DeWitt added at this time that his jailmates informed him that he had "the two worst lawyers" in the county and the jury was scheduled to convict him.

Two other fellow prisoners, however, took the stand to back up Lichliter's testimony.

Ralph Casteel, 37, declared he overheard DeWitt tell Lichliter that he had murdered the infant.

Elwood Phillippi, 24, said DeWitt told him that he came home drunk, heard the baby cry and smothered it.

DeWitt gave this account of the incident:

He said he went squirrel hunting on October 5 and returned home about 2:30 p. m. After supper he played with his two sons, Roger, 5; Ronald, 4; in the bedroom until his wife had put the two babies, Geraldine, 2, and Patty, to bed.

Slept Through Night

He said he retired at 7 p. m. and arose at 6 a. m. the following day. He declared his wife arose first to attend to the little girls. She returned to the bedroom and told him something had happened to Patty.

DeWitt said he lifted the little girl's arm, which was stiff and cold. He then went to do his chores with the cattle on the farm where he worked for Blaine Friend.

Upon returning, DeWitt stated, he found his wife had washed the child, dressed her and wrapped her in two blankets. Then he said he buried her, telling no one for the next three months.

During cross-examination by Walter W. Dawson, who is assisting Pagenhardt, DeWitt became nervous slapping the back of his hand with the microphone cord.

He admitted to Dawson that he didn't call a doctor or tell his relatives because he didn't know it was against the law to bury one's own baby.

DeWitt denied in answer to a question by Dawson that when the wife found the infant she was bleeding from the mouth and nose.

It was at this time that the father admitted that he had never held the dead baby in his arms from the time of her birth to her death, saying she was too little for him to hold.

Grave Not Located

Another witness yesterday was Miss Rosealena Piper of Friendsville, sister-in-law of DeWitt, who said her sister (Mrs. DeWitt) tried to show her the grave, but couldn't find it. She said DeWitt told her sister that he did not have time to show her.

William Blaine Friend, who employed DeWitt at the time, said he visited the farm every day between October 6 and the first of the year when DeWitt moved to Virginia and the defendant had never told him of the baby's death.

James Pysell, DeWitt's brother-in-law, testified he learned of the baby's death in a letter from the child's mother about the first of January.

Jefferson Phone Users Protest Rate Schedule

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 13 (AP)—Counsel for Jefferson County subscribers argued today that they were required to bear an unfair share of a rate increase granted the Central Telephone Co.

Arguments were heard before the State Supreme Court on an appeal by a group of Jefferson subscribers from the Public Service Commission order authorizing the rate increase effective last Jan. 31.

The increase affected about 6,640 Central customers in six counties in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle — Jefferson, Morgan, Hampshire, Mineral, Grant and Hardy.

The company was allowed a smaller increase than it sought. The PSC said the rates asked by the company would have boosted gross annual income by $92,319. The PSC calculated that the increases finally authorized would amount to an additional $60,148 yearly.

Determination of the company's rate base by the PSC on a system-wide basis drew objection from counsel for the Jefferson subscribers. Attorney H. L. Snyder, Jr., of Charleston said this method of determination forced separate areas "into a false economic unity."

He said that Jefferson County, including Charles Town, represented one distinct area, economically and geographically, and the other five affected counties represented another. Berkeley County, which is served by other telephone companies, separates Jefferson from the other five counties.

H. Clare Hess of the PSC staff defended the system-wide approach to fixing the rate base. He said it is the method generally accepted by both state and federal regulatory bodies.

Factors entering into fixing of new rates for the various exchanges included the number of subscribers and the cost of conversion to dial service, which has been done at several places, Hess said.

Area Woman Killed, Former Local Couple Injured In Accident

One person was killed and seven persons were injured in a two-car collision Monday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about two miles west of Donegal.

Among those injured were a former local couple who came to Cumberland over the weekend to visit relatives. Killed in the crash was Mrs. Sally Herman, 62, wife of Adam Herman, of Manheim, Pa., who received treatment at Frick Memorial Hospital in Mt. Pleasant (Pa.) for minor injuries.

Also taken to the hospital after the mishap were:

Paul V. Lepley, 24, of 34 East Union Street, Geneva, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reister Lepley, Homewood Addition, and his expectant wife, Dolores Jean Lepley, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Norris, 47 Thomas Street.

Mrs. Viola Mae Murray, 36, of 52 Swann Street, Geneva, driver of one car and cousin of Lepley, and her three children, Lee, 15, John, 12 and James, 10, who sustained lacerations of the face, contusions and abrasions.

Most seriously hurt was Lee Murray who has a broken back, fractured left lower leg and abrasions of the face.

The Lepleys and Murrays left here Monday for the return trip to Ohio. Their car jumped a medial strip and collided with the eastbound vehicle operated by Herman. The accident occurred about 12:50 p. m.

Pennsylvania State Police are continuing the investigation.

Jefferson Phone Users Protest Rate Schedule

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 13 (AP)—Counsel for Jefferson County subscribers argued today that they were required to bear an unfair share of a rate increase granted the Central Telephone Co.

Arguments were heard before the State Supreme Court on an appeal by a group of Jefferson subscribers from the Public Service Commission order authorizing the rate increase effective last Jan. 31.

The increase affected about 6,640 Central customers in six counties in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle — Jefferson, Morgan, Hampshire, Mineral, Grant and Hardy.

The company was allowed a smaller increase than it sought. The PSC said the rates asked by the company would have boosted gross annual income by $92,319. The PSC calculated that the increases finally authorized would amount to an additional $60,148 yearly.

Determination of the company's rate base by the PSC on a system-wide basis drew objection from counsel for the Jefferson subscribers. Attorney H. L. Snyder, Jr., of Charleston said this method of determination forced separate areas "into a false economic unity."

He said that Jefferson County, including Charles Town, represented one distinct area, economically and geographically, and the other five affected counties represented another. Berkeley County, which is served by other telephone companies, separates Jefferson from the other five counties.

H. Clare Hess of the PSC staff defended the system-wide approach to fixing the rate base. He said it is the method generally accepted by both state and federal regulatory bodies.

Factors entering into fixing of new rates for the various exchanges included the number of subscribers and the cost of conversion to dial service, which has been done at several places, Hess said.

The Grand Jury--- A Commendation

We join with Chief Judge George Henderson in commending the April Grand Jury for the diligence with which it conducted its deliberations and especially its conscientious work in devoting more than half of its time to investigating gambling.

We know we are joined by the citizenry of Cumberland in rejoicing to learn after this concentrated effort that there is no vice in Cumberland.

Cumberland is a "clean" city from the standpoint of gambling, vice and corruption, and we know every resident is proud that our community has this reputation.

It may be that an interested horse race fan can place a bet with a hand bookie on the street, or there may be some card games in clubs and private homes, or there may be some lottery tickets for various organizations being sold, but there is no evidence of any organized or sanctioned gambling.

So long as the man lives who wants to place a bet or take a chance, there will be another man to cover it. No laws or investigations are likely to break it up.

Investigation of gambling at this session of the grand jury was brought about after public attention had been focused upon it, as Judge Henderson observed in effect, by a manner with which he did not agree.

More than a dozen witnesses, some law enforcement officers, some not, were called before the grand jury which had Mrs. Margaret Cupler as forelady, the first time in history that a woman has headed this body. Serving with her were eight women and fourteen men.

Everyone knows that women have a reputation for sticking to something and seeing it through once they set their minds to it, and we feel free to assume that their persistence had something to do with keeping the grand jury in session for the longest period in three years.

Their report indicating there was no evidence of gambling on which to base an indictment makes us feel doubly sure there is no vice in Cumberland, despite the manner in which the question first was raised.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Corsi Affair

The Corsi case raises certain general principles, namely, whether an official appointed to a subordinate position in a government department may determine the policy of that department on a particular question; secondly whether the head of a government department is bound to keep a man on willy-nilly, once he is dissatisfied with his work or his attitude.

Edward J. Corsi has for many years been a henchman in New York of Thomas E. Dewey, kept on the public payroll in the hope that he could gather for the Republicans a portion of the Italian vote. Most Italians in this state are Democrats, having been duly corralled into that party during the days of the New Deal. In New York, political parties operate on the general assumption that national and religious groups vote, more or less, in blocs.

Fiorello La Guardia was a Republican when he ran for Congress. Subsequently he became non-partisan, or to state it more accurately, omnipartisan, just as he managed to belong to all sorts of nationality and religious groups. "Butch," as his friends called him, was usually in political partnership with Vito Marcantonio who sought, in Harlem, both Fascist and Communist support, eventually leaving the Fascists behind him as numerically unimportant. La Guardia spoke a multitude of languages and therefore did as well at an orthodox Jewish Bar Mitzvah as at an Irish Catholic wake. "Butch" was an amazing vote-getter, but he never succeeded in making Republicans out of Italians.

Nor was Corsi more successful. He ran for mayor against Impellitteri and Pecora, that being the year when the politicians thought only an Italian could win in New York. Corsi was trounced, but Dewey gave him a job as Dewey always took care of his own. It was only natural therefore that when Averell Harriman, a Democrat, was elected governor of the State of New York, Corsi should become unemployed and that a place should be sought for him in Washington.

Why John Foster Dulles, our much bedevilled secretary of state, should have Corsi loaded upon him, is not too difficult to understand. Where else could Corsi be unloaded? He is a specialist in a foreign language group and in the particular interests of this foreign language group. This relationship is clarified by the intervention of Max Rabb, Eisenhower's David Niles, if you recall the name. Niles's job was to make sure that Jews, Negroes, Italians and other "minorities" remained faithful to the New Deal. Niles was skillful at intrigue, but he never told anyone that Roosevelt had, jestingly perhaps, proposed giving the 6,000,000 Jews of the United States to Ibn Saud. There were no jokes in Niles's personality. His successor, Max Rabb, is also a very serious-minded man.

So, Rabb apparently helped land Corsi a job in the State Department to "liberalize" the McCarran-Walter Immigration Law. Of course, if that law or any law is to be changed, it is Congress that has to do it. The function of the executive branch of the government is to administer and execute the laws of Congress, not to change them. So Representative Walter raised up a howl, and Corsi was offered a transfer. Whereupon Corsi shouted, "McCarthy!" and the liberals went into action.

Joe McCarthy had as much to do with Corsi's being hired and fired as you or I did, but just as in the circus, when there is trouble, the shout goes up, "Hey, Rube!" so among the so-called liberals, the battle-cry is "McCarthy!" Then they find themselves organized and fighting. The ADA goes into action, and the individual in question becomes a "victim." Then Jim Hagerty announces that the President never heard about the matter and therefore is not to blame.

The record having been established, nothing happens and the whole thing is soon forgotten in the next crisis. It was possible to go to bat for Wolf Ladejinsky, for here was a clean-cut public servant, a technician, an anti-Communist by his writings, against whom no security charges could be maintained so far as anybody could show. It is not possible to go to bat for Edward J. Corsi because he has been little more than a politician in these parts looking for votes for his patron, Thomas E. Dewey. Maybe, all Dewey's henchmen ought to be on the federal payroll, but only Dewey can know the reason why it should be so.

Getting The Homework Done

Stevenson Gives Reds Comfort On Disunity In U. S.

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — If Adlai Stevenson had contrived purposely to encourage the Communist Chinese to believe that America is disunited and that her allies are seriously at odds with her on Far Eastern policy, he could not have delivered a more convincing speech to that end than he did on Monday night.

For, while to many Americans the former presidential candidate would seem to have been motivated merely by domestic political considerations and by his own ambitions — which can be realized only by undermining the political popularity of President Eisenhower — the Red Chinese could well imagine that the speech represents the beginning of a retreat by the Democratic majority now in control of Congress. Only a few weeks ago they voted solidly to support the resolution authorizing the President to use our military force to defend Formosa and "related positions and territories of that area." Is "bipartisanship" to be spelled differently now, with divisive speeches by partisans at a time of grave crisis in international affairs?

Stevenson Repudiates George

There are, of course, differences of opinion here and abroad over the extent to which the "related areas" — namely, the offshore islands — shall be defended. But the issue was thoroughly debated in Congress, and it would seem that Mr. Stevenson now is merely accentuating a difference that has already been resolved. For the Congress was informed that there was no intention on the part of the President to defend the offshore islands as such, but to defend them "only in situations which are recognizable as parts of, or definite preliminaries to, an attack" on Formosa. This has been made clear to members of Congress on the Democratic side, and especially to Senator Walter George, Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But now it would appear that Mr. Stevenson has publicly repudiated the leadership of the Georgia senator and prefers to go it alone in proclaiming what he believes should be the foreign policy of the Democratic party.

Mr. Stevenson, moreover, calls for a declaration by the Allied nations condemning the use of force in and around Formosa. This is predicated on the assumption that the Red Chinese will likewise refrain from using force. Senator George favors the renunciation of the use of force in and around Formosa, and so does President Eisenhower, who has called for a cease-fire to be arranged by the U.N. It is not Mr. Eisenhower or our allies who can regulate whether force shall be used. Only the Red Chinese can decide whether there is to be war in the Far East. Any pronouncements about United States policy should be left to the President of the United States to make.

Full Of Contradictions

The speech by the former presidential candidate is full of contradictions so characteristic of many of his addresses. While, for example, he condemns the Eisenhower administration for not doing what it says, and for not meaning what it announces in its threat of "massive retaliation," Mr. Stevenson unfortunately chooses as his illustration the Allied retreat in Indochina. For this he blames America when he ought to know that the United States backed down from the use of force there because neither the French nor the British — our allies — would go along with us. Here was a case in which Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles did precisely what Mr. Stevenson now pleads should be done — namely, adopted an attitude deferential to the wishes of our allies. But having followed our allies, America is now blamed by Mr. Stevenson for the loss of Indochina. He certainly cannot have it both ways.

Mr. Stevenson's speech exhibits a greater concern for the feelings of the allies than it does for the feelings of the American people. This is probably due to a desire to make it appear that in foreign policy the administration is inept and incompetent. While professing high motives himself, Mr. Stevenson accuses the administration of yielding to "considerations of domestic political expediency" in making its Far Eastern policies. There are critics inside the Republican party but fortunately they have not been in favor of appeasing the Communists, and are trying instead to keep the administration from yielding to those "peace at any price" elements in the Republican party which, like Mr. Stevenson, advocate withdrawal from the offshore islands.

Doesn't Feel Obligated

Mr. Stevenson would, of course, wash his hands of any responsibility if the policy he advocates were really adopted. If, for example, after the United States withdrew moral support from the Nationalist government and a disintegration of morale developed on Formosa among the troops of Chiang Kai-shek — which Mr. Stevenson now significantly derides as "over-age" — the titular leader of the Democratic party probably would not concede that, by his speech and proposals, he had helped to break down the morale of the Nationalist troops on Formosa, just as the Truman - Acheson administration did in pulling the rug from beneath Chiang Kai-shek's forces on the mainland of China in 1949.

Mr. Stevenson is rocking the boat at a critical time, and if his words are heeded by the Democratic majority in Congress, then America is headed for the era of chaos and divided government predicted by many observers last autumn. The American people during the campaign were promised cooperation by the Democrats in upholding the hands of the President, especially in foreign policy. But Mr. Stevenson evidently does not feel obligated now to see that this pledge is fulfilled.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Guess you heard Dicky Byrd is flying south to his penguin sanctuary again.

The admiral of the ocean sea started looking for reserve parking space 25 years ago. Major Bowes emceed a broadcast that was as one-sided as a drunk's hat.

The major short-staticked the admiral by telling him how glad he was to be here tonight. The admiral responded with one toot on the foghorn of the Jacob Ruppert.

Just when it looked like the major was going to be Polly Andy the glad boy all night in stepped Trader Horn and grabbed the mike. He was as pappy as baby food.

Pan American Union Celebrates 65th Birthday With Peace In Hemisphere

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—With some parts of the world looking pretty bleak and the U. S. A. sitting on the edge of possible war around Formosa, there's one area close to home which the American people can feel happy about—our good neighbors in the Western Hemisphere.

It was just 65 years ago that the first Pan American conference formed the Pan American Union. Since then, it has worked quietly with little fanfare to build up a new code of behavior among states.

Every so often the Pan American Union gets into the headlines when some crisis takes place, such as the threat of war between Costa Rica and Nicaragua. But most of the time its work is an unspectacular but important labor in the vineyard of good neighborliness.

Most people don't realize it, but the Pan American Union is the oldest of all international organizations, and the only one that operates on a true democratic basis. It survived where the League of Nations failed. It has no votes that count more than other votes. It has no veto, no permanent seats for powerful nations. It operates on a completely democratic basis and the vote of Haiti, which is 300 times smaller than the U. S. A., counts just as much as the vote of the U. S. A.

So, while most of the world has seen increasing wars, the Western Hemisphere owes its decreasing wars to the patient good neighborliness of the Pan American Union.

FDR's Old Sloop

After I reported that Secretary of the Navy Thomas had turned down a gift of FDR's old sailing sloop because it would cost too much to repair, I received a suggestion from Joe De Silva, head of the Retail Clerks Union of Los Angeles, that admirers of FDR might want to contribute to the repair of his sailing sloop on the 10th anniversary of his deah.

De Silva started the ball rolling by sending his own check.

The sloop is the one which Roosevelt used when he was assistant secretary of the Navy and before he became crippled with polio. His son, Congressman James Roosevelt, offered it to the Naval Academy at Annapolis as a gift, thinking the Midshipmen might use it on Chesapeake Bay as part of their training and that it might have some sentimental value to the Navy which reached its greatest strength under his father.

Secretary of the Navy Thomas, however, replied that it would cost $600 to repair the sloop and the Eisenhower administration was trying to balance the budget.

Commented Joe De Silva: "I see that my fellow Los Angelican, Charles Thomas doesn't want to spent a few dollars repairing Roosevelt's old sailing boat, though the Navy has plenty of dough to take congressmen on junkets and admirals on free airplane trips.

"There was no man in the history of the United States who did more for the Navy than Franklin Roosevelt. He took it after Herbert Hoover had cut it to the bone and built it up to be the most powerful fighting force in the world.

"Please accept my check as a small contribution toward helping to repair this ship. And on the 10th anniversary of Roosevelt's death, a hundred thousand people who loved him will probably want to send in a dollar to help the poverty-stricken Eisenhower administration honor a great man."

NOTE—Anyone wanting to act on Mr. De Silva's suggestion can write Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, the Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

Liquor Taxes Lax

Tax Boss T. Coleman Andrews has been concentrating so hard on catching small tax violators that millions have slipped through his fingers from certain big corporations. For example, he has put the giant liquor industry on its own tax stamps.

Result: A drop in tax collections; also a sharp increase in the number of tax stamps reported lost or mutilated.

It used to be that government gaugers supervised every stage of the distillery process and kept alcohol tax stamps under lock and key. The gaugers have now been pulled off the job, except for occasional cross-checks. Coleman's idea was to cut down on industry enforcement so more tax agents could check on the small, individual taxpayers.

Now that the distilleries are on the honor system, however, they have been reporting more than double the number of tax stamps missing and mutilated. As a typical example, one Philadelphia rectifying plant lost or mutilated 11,074 revenue stamps during the first three months of 1954—before the voluntary system started. But after the plant was given authority to regulate its own taxes, it reported 26,589 lost or mutilated stamps for the same three months of 1955 up to March 23—a week short of the full quarter.

Modern Bootlegging

The sudden rise in disappearing tax stamps, of course, means the government is getting gypped out of millions in alcohol tax revenue. For the stamps don't disappear at all. The liquor industry is riddled with ex-bootleggers and hoodlums.

In some cases, they paste the "lost" stamps on their own product and peddle the extra bottles tax-free. Or else they bootleg the stamps to moonshiners who use them to pass off their home brew as government-regulated liquor. This not only cuts down Uncle Sam's take, but fools customers into buying dangerous, sometimes lethal, moonshine whisky, thinking it is government-okayed.

A Possible Timetable

By Joseph Alsop

TAIPEI, Formosa

The signs suggest that the Eisenhower administration will have plenty of time to conduct its curious, semi-public debate with itself about the right response to a Communist attack on Formosa's offshore islands.

But the signs do not as yet suggest that the decision on this vital matter can be put off indefinitely. If the Chinese Communists are not just wasting their time and money on fruitless preparations, President Eisenhower is going to have to make up his mind whether to defend Quemoy and the Matsus some time this spring, probably between late May and late June.

Nothing is more purely speculative of course than speculation about enemy timetables and intentions. In the present case, moreover, the evidence seems to point two ways. But on this very conflict of evidence, the experts here and in Hong Kong have built a rather persuasive theory of the probable Chinese Communist plan of action.

Venomous Denunciations

Considering first the evidence itself, on one side there is the fact the Peiping's "liberate Taiwan" drums have now been rather completely muffled. The play down was gradual. But by about three weeks ago, the theme that once was screamed from every Chinese Communist radio had almost ceased to be heard any longer. "Liberate Taiwan" gave place to prolonged and venomous denunciations of American "colonial intervention" in Indochina and Asia generally.

On the other hand, the physical preparations for an attack on the offshore islands have continued to go forward apace. The troop concentrations in the neighborhood of the Matsus have been measurably strengthened. The enemy artillery ringing Quemoy has been st engthened too, and there are ominous reports that it may now include 16 inch naval guns which can destroy any fortification on Matsu Island.

Above all, the air pattern has grown more menacing. By extraordinary efforts, Liuchao airfield, just across the straits from the Tachen islands, has been rushed to completion a month ahead of the earliest Sino-American estimate. And Liuchao is several precious scores of miles closer to the Matsu islands than any other airfield in the big Checkiang-Kiangsi air complex. And as soon as it was finished, Liuchao was occupied by a couple of squadrons of Mig 15s.

Airfield Work Begun

Intensive work has also begun on Foochow airfield, only 30 miles from the Matsus. The existing concrete runway is 6,000 feet long and only needs an addition of a mere 1,000 to 1,500 feet. Hence it seems possible that this extension and the basic repairs of the old runway will be completed by the end of May.

The combination of Liuchao and Foochow airfields, in turn, will give the Communists a wholly new air capability over the Matsus. Before Liuchao airfield was finished, their relatively short range Migs that get in a fight over the Matsus can continue the combat almost at will. Foochow will always be there, to provide them with the minimum fuel for the trip back to their main bases further north.

Thus the Communist fighters will actually achieve a longer time over target, when they really need it, than the Chinese and American Formosa-based F-86s. And since Foochow will only be used for emergencies, a minimum strain will be placed on its extremely limited supply lines.

Potential Is Ugly

Maybe these preparations are meaningless, although their potential meaning is exceedingly ugly. It seems more likely, however, that the seeming conflict between what the Communists are doing and saying is to be explained by two external facts, the Bandung conference and the visible indecision in Washington.

What Peiping wants out of Bandung is almost certainly a set of resolutions demanding recognition of Communist China as a member of the club of great powers, and telling all westerners, and especially the United States, to get out of Asia and stay out. The current Peiping propaganda line is obvious preparation for the second half of this program.

Perhaps the thing will happen gradually, beginning with one plane reconnaissance sorties, going on to torpedo boat attacks on Chinese Nationalist supply vessels and small test bombings, and then suddenly opening out into a major effort. This was the pattern of the build up to the attack on Yikiangshan, at any rate. It has the great advantage of drawing no sharp line where Washingto must say "here we must fight or backdo n."

Whether or not military probing begins early, the experts think diplomatic maneuvers will surely start as soon as Bandung is out of the way. The aim will be, of course, to transform the present American indecision into a firm decision to let the Communists have the offshore islands if they want them. And who can tell that this aim will not be attained. If a month is allowed for post-Bandung diplomacy, in turn, you come out with about the same date that is suggested by the work on Foochow airfield, namely the end o May. An attack may come at any time, of course, or Russian persuasions or sudden American firmness may prevent an attack altogether. But for reasons given, the experts think that the end of May until the beginning of the typhoon season in July should be a period of special watchfulness.

Five Per Cent Of Chest X-Rays Show Abnormalities

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

If you feel good and never have had an X-ray of the chest, it might be advisable to do so. There is a five per cent chance that some abnormality will show up on the plate, which may or may not be a serious lesion. Your physician can make the arrangements and in some cities, the health department or local tuberculosis organization will do it free or for a minimal fee.

These routine chest X-rays supply the answer to the question: Can I have a chest condition without knowing it? Several disorders, including tuberculosis, may exist without producing symptoms. X-ray is the only way in which to detect them.

Furthermore, early diagnosis gives a good chance for recovery in a relatively short period of time, depending upon the disturbance. Moreover, in contagious diseases like tuberculosis, taking the victim out of circulation spares others unnecessary exposure.

Many physicians and institutions are making the chest X-ray a routine procedure. It is becoming as necessary a part of a good examination as are urinalyses, blood counts, and tests for syphilis.

The reason for this procedure becomes obvious after considering the experience of a New York general practitioner who was in the habit of sending his patients to a chest clinic for X-rays.

A review of the findings on 200 consecutive patients 40 years of age and older showed that 7 per cent had tuberculosis; 1 per cent had cancer; 7 per cent had various chest abnormalities such as bronchiectasis or emphysema; and 4.5 per cent had pleurisy. In 10.5 per cent there were heart disorders, due chiefly to arteriosclerosis. The remaining 140 patients had normal chest X-rays.

For many years the National Tuberculosis Association has advocated an annual chest X-ray. A mass production type of machine is used with an inexpensive miniature film. These films are excellent for screening purposes because they reveal gross abnormalities.

But they do not show the detail necessary for diagnosis and treatment. When a defect is noted, the individual is requested to see the family physician, who usually recommends a regular chest X-ray.

There have been reports that many persons fail to follow through. It is difficult to understand the philosophy behind their attitude except that these people have no faith in the veracity of the X-ray or are afraid that additional studies will disclose a serious abnormality.

Many individuals do not realize X-rays uncover abnormalities other than tuberculosis. Some are harmless, as they represent degenerative processes or scars resulting from an ancient infection.

NOT IMMUNE

Mrs. O. writes: If a woman did not have any of the contagious diseases in childhood, could she catch measles, mumps, and others from her children?

REPLY

Yes. Some parents and even grandparents who are susceptible acquire these diseases from the youngsters.

SLEEPY PUPILS

M. R. writes: Most children today look and act sleepy on arriving at school even though they eat a good breakfast. When I was young I was awake every morning to eat a 6 o'clock breakfast with my father and on looking back I recall that I had coffee with my breakfast. I was wondering if a little coffee added to the child's morning milk would make them more lively.

REPLY

A stimulant should not be necessary in childhood. Today's children tend to be lackadaisical because they do not go to bed with the chicken as in days gone by and in addition, they all seem to have a heavy evening schedule.

TOMORROW: Many remedies for leukemia.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Titian-haired Lucy Monroe has sung "The Star Spangled Banner" so often that several legislators have discussed admitting her as the 49th state. From the Supreme Court to Milwaukee — home of the plea to the land of the Braves — she's warbled our national anthem in fair weather and foul, and become so identified therewith that every time she appears with a new male escort, wits immediately presume his name is Francis Scott Key.

When Lucy gives with the high notes, the lyrics come across as clear as a bell. Obviously there was nobody like her around when columnist Franklin P. Adams was a lad. He confesses that until he reached the age of 12, he was convinced that the first line of our anthem was, "Osage, Kansas City."

The Chicago Cubs once had a pitcher on their staff whom Ring Lardner considered below major league stature. "His most deceptive pitch," scoffed Ring, "is his fast ball. The batter can't tell it from his slow ball."

The Grand Jury--- A Commendation

We join with Chief Judge George Henderson in commending the April Grand Jury for the diligence with which it conducted its deliberations and especially its conscientious work in devoting more than half of its time to investigating gambling.

We know we are joined by the citizenry of Cumberland in rejoicing to learn after this concentrated effort that there is no vice in Cumberland.

Cumberland is a "clean" city from the standpoint of gambling, vice and corruption, and we know every resident is proud that our community has this reputation.

It may be that an interested horse race fan can place a bet with a hand bookie on the street, or there may be some card games in clubs and private homes, or there may be some lottery tickets for various organizations being sold, but there is no evidence of any organized or sanctioned gambling.

So long as the man lives who wants to place a bet or take a chance, there will be another man to cover it. No laws or investigations are likely to break it up.

Investigation of gambling at this session of the grand jury was brought about after public attention had been focused upon it, as Judge Henderson observed in effect, by a manner with which he did not agree.

More than a dozen witnesses, some law enforcement officers, some not, were called before the grand jury which had Mrs. Margaret Cupler as forelady, the first time in history that a woman has headed this body. Serving with her were eight women and fourteen men.

Everyone knows that women have a reputation for sticking to something and seeing it through once they set their minds to it, and we feel free to assume that their persistence had something to do with keeping the grand jury in session for the longest period in three years.

Their report indicating there was no evidence of gambling on which to base an indictment makes us feel doubly sure there is no vice in Cumberland, despite the manner in which the question first was raised.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Corsi Affair

The Corsi case raises certain general principles, namely, whether an official appointed to a subordinate position in a government department may determine the policy of that department on a particular question; secondly whether the head of a government department is bound to keep a man on willy-nilly, once he is dissatisfied with his work or his attitude.

Edward J. Corsi has for many years been a henchman in New York of Thomas E. Dewey, kept on the public payroll in the hope that he could gather for the Republicans a portion of the Italian vote. Most Italians in this state are Democrats, having been duly corralled into that party during the days of the New Deal. In New York, political parties operate on the general assumption that national and religious groups vote, more or less, in blocs.

Fiorello La Guardia was a Republican when he ran for Congress. Subsequently he became non-partisan, or to state it more accurately, omnipartisan, just as he managed to belong to all sorts of nationality and religious groups. "Butch," as his friends called him, was usually in political partnership with Vito Marcantonio who sought, in Harlem, both Fascist and Communist support, eventually leaving the Fascists behind him as numerically unimportant. La Guardia spoke a multitude of languages and therefore did as well at an orthodox Jewish Bar Mitzvah as at an Irish Catholic wake. "Butch" was an amazing vote-getter, but he never succeeded in making Republicans out of Italians.

Nor was Corsi more successful. He ran for mayor against Impellitteri and Pecora, that being the year when the politicians thought only an Italian could win in New York. Corsi was trounced, but Dewey gave him a job as Dewey always took care of his own. It was only natural therefore that when Averell Harriman, a Democrat, was elected governor of the State of New York, Corsi should become unemployed and that a place should be sought for him in Washington.

Why John Foster Dulles, our much bedevilled secretary of state, should have Corsi loaded upon him, is not too difficult to understand. Where else could Corsi be unloaded? He is a specialist in a foreign language group and in the particular interests of this foreign language group. This relationship is clarified by the intervention of Max Rabb, Eisenhower's David Niles, if you recall the name. Niles's job was to make sure that Jews, Negroes, Italians and other "minorities" remained faithful to the New Deal. Niles was skillful at intrigue, but he never told anyone that Roosevelt had, jestingly perhaps, proposed giving the 6,000,000 Jews of the United States to Ibn Saud. There were no jokes in Niles's personality. His successor, Max Rabb, is also a very serious-minded man.

So, Rabb apparently helped land Corsi a job in the State Department to "liberalize" the McCarran-Walter Immigration Law. Of course, if that law or any law is to be changed, it is Congress that has to do it. The function of the executive branch of the government is to administer and execute the laws of Congress, not to change them. So Representative Walter raised up a howl, and Corsi was offered a transfer. Whereupon Corsi shouted, "McCarthy!" and the liberals went into action.

Joe McCarthy had as much to do with Corsi's being hired and fired as you or I did, but just as in the circus, when there is trouble, the shout goes up, "Hey, Rube!" so among the so-called liberals, the battle-cry is "McCarthy!" Then they find themselves organized and fighting. The ADA goes into action, and the individual in question becomes a "victim." Then Jim Hagerty announces that the President never heard about the matter and therefore is not to blame.

The record having been established, nothing happens and the whole thing is soon forgotten in the next crisis. It was possible to go to bat for Wolf Ladejinsky, for here was a clean-cut public servant, a technician, an anti-Communist by his writings, against whom no security charges could be maintained so far as anybody could show. It is not possible to go to bat for Edward J. Corsi because he has been little more than a politician in these parts looking for votes for his patron, Thomas E. Dewey. Maybe, all Dewey's henchmen ought to be on the federal payroll, but only Dewey can know the reason why it should be so.

Pan American Union Celebrates 65th Birthday With Peace In Hemisphere

Stevenson Gives Reds Comfort On Disunity In U. S.

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — If Adlai Stevenson had contrived purposely to encourage the Communist Chinese to believe that America is disunited and that her allies are seriously at odds with her on Far Eastern policy, he could not have delivered a more convincing speech to that end than he did on Monday night.

For, while to many Americans the former presidential candidate would seem to have been motivated merely by domestic political considerations and by his own ambitions — which can be realized only by undermining the political popularity of President Eisenhower — the Red Chinese could well imagine that the speech represents the beginning of a retreat by the Democratic majority now in control of Congress. Only a few weeks ago they voted solidly to support the resolution authorizing the President to use our military force to defend Formosa and "related positions and territories of that area." Is "bipartisanship" to be spelled differently now, with divisive speeches by partisans at a time of grave crisis in international affairs?

Stevenson Repudiates George

There are, of course, differences of opinion here and abroad over the extent to which the "related areas" — namely, the offshore islands — shall be defended. But the issue was thoroughly debated in Congress, and it would seem that Mr. Stevenson now is merely accentuating a difference that has already been resolved. For the Congress was informed that there was no intention on the part of the President to defend the offshore islands as such, but to defend them "only in situations which are recognizable as parts of, or definite preliminaries to, an attack" on Formosa. This has been made clear to members of Congress on the Democratic side, and especially to Senator Walter George, Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But now it would appear that Mr. Stevenson has publicly repudiated the leadership of the Georgia senator and prefers to go it alone in proclaiming what he believes should be the foreign policy of the Democratic party.

Mr. Stevenson, moreover, calls for a declaration by the Allied nations condemning the use of force in and around Formosa. This is predicated on the assumption that the Red Chinese will likewise refrain from using force. Senator George favors the renunciation of the use of force in and around Formosa, and so does President Eisenhower, who has called for a cease-fire to be arranged by the U.N. It is not Mr. Eisenhower or our allies who can regulate whether force shall be used. Only the Red Chinese can decide whether there is to be war in the Far East. Any pronouncements about United States policy should be left to the President of the United States to make.

Full Of Contradictions

The speech by the former presidential candidate is full of contradictions so characteristic of many of his addresses. While, for example, he condemns the Eisenhower administration for not doing what it says, and for not meaning what it announces in its threat of "massive retaliation," Mr. Stevenson unfortunately chooses as his illustration the Allied retreat in Indochina. For this he blames America when he ought to know that the United States backed down from the use of force there because neither the French nor the British — our allies — would go along with us. Here was a case in which Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles did precisely what Mr. Stevenson now pleads should be done — namely, adopted an attitude deferential to the wishes of our allies. But having followed our allies, America is now blamed by Mr. Stevenson for the loss of Indochina. He certainly cannot have it both ways.

Mr. Stevenson's speech exhibits a greater concern for the feelings of the allies than it does for the feelings of the American people. This is probably due to a desire to make it appear that in foreign policy the administration is inept and incompetent. While professing high motives himself, Mr. Stevenson accuses the administration of yielding to "considerations of domestic political expediency" in making its Far Eastern policies. There are critics inside the Republican party but fortunately they have not been in favor of appeasing the Communists, and are trying instead to keep the administration from yielding to those "peace at any price" elements in the Republican party which, like Mr. Stevenson, advocate withdrawal from the offshore islands.

Doesn't Feel Obligated

Mr. Stevenson would, of course, wash his hands of any responsibility if the policy he advocates were really adopted. If, for example, after the United States withdrew moral support from the Nationalist government and a disintegration of morale developed on Formosa among the troops of Chiang Kai-shek — which Mr. Stevenson now significantly derides as "over-age" — the titular leader of the Democratic party probably would not concede that, by his speech and proposals, he had helped to break down the morale of the Nationalist troops on Formosa, just as the Truman - Acheson administration did in pulling the rug from beneath Chiang Kai-shek's forces on the mainland of China in 1949.

Mr. Stevenson is rocking the boat at a critical time, and if his words are heeded by the Democratic majority in Congress, then America is headed for the era of chaos and divided government predicted by many observers last autumn. The American people during the campaign were promised cooperation by the Democrats in upholding the hands of the President, especially in foreign policy. But Mr. Stevenson evidently does not feel obligated now to see that this pledge is fulfilled.

A Possible Timetable

But by about three weeks ago, the theme that once was screamed from every Chinese Communist radio had almost ceased to be heard any longer. "Liberate Taiwan" gave place to prolonged and venomous denunciations of American "colonial intervention" in Indochina and Asia generally.

On the other hand, the physical preparations for an attack on the offshore islands have continued to go forward apace. The troop concentrations in the neighborhood of the Matsus have been measurably strengthened. The enemy artillery ringing Quemoy has been strengthened too, and there are ominous reports that it may now include 16 inch naval guns which can destroy any fortification on Matsu Island.

Above all, the air pattern has grown more menacing. By extraordinary efforts, Liuchao airfield, just across the straits from the Tachen islands, has been rushed to completion a month ahead of the earliest Sino-American estimate. And Liuchao is several precious scores of miles closer to the Matsu islands than any other airfield in the big Checkiang-Kiangsi air complex. And as soon as it was finished, Liuchao was occupied by a couple of squadrons of Mig 15s.

Airfield Work Begun

Intensive work has also begun on Foochow airfield, only 30 miles from the Matsus. The existing concrete runway is 6,000 feet long and only needs an addition of a mere 1,000 to 1,500 feet. Hence it seems possible that this extension and the basic repairs of the old runway will be completed by the end of May.

The combination of Liuchao and Foochow airfields, in turn, will give the Communists a wholly new air capability over the Matsus. Before Liuchao airfield was finished, their relatively short range Migs that get in a fight over the Matsus can continue the combat almost at will. Foochow will always be there, to provide them with the minimum fuel for the trip back to their main bases further north.

Thus the Communist fighters will actually achieve a longer time over target, when they really need it, than the Chinese and American Formosa-based F-86s. And since Foochow will only be used for emergencies, a minimum strain will be placed on its extremely limited supply lines.

Potential Is Ugly

Maybe these preparations are meaningless, although their potential meaning is exceedingly ugly. It seems more likely, however, that the seeming conflict between what the Communists are doing and saying is to be explained by two external facts, the Bandung conference and the visible indecision in Washington.

What Peiping wants out of Bandung is almost certainly a set of resolutions demanding recognition of Communist China as a member of the club of great powers, and telling all westerners, and especially the United States, to get out of Asia and stay out. The current Peiping propaganda line is obvious preparation for the second half of this program.

Perhaps the thing will happen gradually, beginning with one plane reconnaissance sorties, going on to torpedo boat attacks on Chinese Nationalist supply vessels and small test bombings, and then suddenly opening out into a major effort. This was the pattern of the build up to the attack on Yikiangshan, at any rate. It has the great advantage of drawing no sharp line where Washington must say "here we must fight or backdown."

Whether or not military probing begins early, the experts think diplomatic maneuvers will surely start as soon as Bandung is out of the way. The aim will be, of course, to transform the present American indecision into a firm decision to let the Communists have the offshore islands if they want them. And who can tell that this aim will not be attained. If a month is allowed for post-Bandung diplomacy, in turn, you come out with about the same date that is suggested by the work on Foochow airfield, namely the end of May. An attack may come at any time, of course, or Russian persuasions or sudden American firmness may prevent an attack altogether. But for reasons given, the experts think that the end of May until the beginning of the typhoon season in July should be a period of special watchfulness.

Five Per Cent Of Chest X-Rays Show Abnormalities

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

If you feel good and never have had an X-ray of the chest, it might be advisable to do so. There is a five per cent chance that some abnormality will show up on the plate, which may or may not be a serious lesion. Your physician can make the arrangements and in some cities, the health department or local tuberculosis organization will do it free or for a minimal fee.

These routine chest X-rays supply the answer to the question: Can I have a chest condition without knowing it? Several disorders, including tuberculosis, may exist without producing symptoms. X-ray is the only way in which to detect them.

Furthermore, early diagnosis gives a good chance for recovery in a relatively short period of time, depending upon the disturbance. Moreover, in contagious diseases like tuberculosis, taking the victim out of circulation spares others unnecessary exposure.

Many physicians and institutions are making the chest X-ray a routine procedure. It is becoming as necessary a part of a good examination as are urinalyses, blood counts, and tests for syphilis.

The reason for this procedure becomes obvious after considering the experience of a New York general practitioner who was in the habit of sending his patients to a chest clinic for X-rays.

A review of the findings on 200 consecutive patients 40 years of age and older showed that 7 per cent had tuberculosis; 1 per cent had cancer; 7 per cent had various chest abnormalities such as bronchiectasis or emphysema; and 4.5 per cent had pleurisy. In 10.5 per cent there were heart disorders, due chiefly to arteriosclerosis. The remaining 140 patients had normal chest X-rays.

For many years the National Tuberculosis Association has advocated an annual chest X-ray. A mass production type of machine is used with an inexpensive miniature film. These films are excellent for screening purposes because they reveal gross abnormalities.

But they do not show the detail necessary for diagnosis and treatment. When a defect is noted, the individual is requested to see the family physician, who usually recommends a regular chest X-ray.

There have been reports that many persons fail to follow through. It is difficult to understand the philosophy behind their attitude except that these people have no faith in the veracity of the X-ray or are afraid that additional studies will disclose a serious abnormality.

Many individuals do not realize X-rays uncover abnormalities other than tuberculosis. Some are harmless, as they represent degenerative processes or scars resulting from an ancient infection.

NOT IMMUNE

Mrs. O. writes: If a woman did not have any of the contagious diseases in childhood, could she catch measles, mumps, and others from her children?

REPLY

Yes. Some parents and even grandparents who are susceptible acquire these diseases from the youngsters.

SLEEPY PUPILS

M. R. writes: Most children today look and act sleepy on arriving at school even though they eat a good breakfast. When I was young I was awake every morning to eat a 6 o'clock breakfast with my father and on looking back I recall that I had coffee with my breakfast. I was wondering if a little coffee added to the child's morning milk would make them more lively.

REPLY

A stimulant should not be necessary in childhood. Today's children tend to be lackadaisical because they do not go to bed with the chicken as in days gone by and in addition, they all seem to have a heavy evening schedule.

TOMORROW: Many remedies for leukemia.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Titian-haired Lucy Monroe has sung "The Star Spangled Banner" so often that several legislators have discussed admitting her as the 49th state. From the Supreme Court to Milwaukee — home of the plea to the land of the Braves — she's warbled our national anthem in fair weather and foul, and become so identified therewith that every time she appears with a new male escort, wits immediately presume his name is Francis Scott Key.

When Lucy gives with the high notes, the lyrics come across as clear as a bell. Obviously there was nobody like her around when columnist Franklin P. Adams was a lad. He confesses that until he reached the age of 12, he was convinced that the first line of our anthem was, "Osage, Kansas City."

The Chicago Cubs once had a pitcher on their staff whom Ring Lardner considered below major league stature. "His most deceptive pitch," scoffed Ring, "is his fast ball. The batter can't tell it from his slow ball."

Don Wilkinson Limits Locals To Two Blows

Bruce Hurler Fans Nine; Three Other Games Rained Out

Donald Wilkinson, righthander, who turned in a 4-2 record in his freshman year for the Bulldogs, pitched Bruce High School to a 3-1 decision over LaSalle High's Explorers yesterday at Penn Avenue Field in the opening game of the season in the Bi-State Baseball Conference.

Three other games billed for yesterday in the nine-team schoolboy circuit were postponed on account of wet grounds.

The Beall at Flintstone game is reset for Wednesday, April 27, the Allegany at Mt. Savage contest is rescheduled for Wednesday, April 20, and Fort Hill will return to Hyndman on Tuesday, April 19.

Wilkinson limited LaSalle's defending co-champions to two singles in yesterday's game, struck out nine and gave up four bases on balls. The LaSalle hits were credited to Joe Conroy and Harold Hudson.

Bruce won the game in the first inning by scoring twice at the expense of Lefty Frank Ritter, who was charged with the loss. The LaSalle hurler yielded another tally in the second frame.

The only run scored by LaSalle came in the opening stanza when Jerry Sheffler walked with the bases loaded.

Joe Conroy, who relieved Ritter in the third inning, yielded only one hit in five frames, failed to issue a pass and struck out eight.

Kuenn Heads Attack, Steve Gromek Victor

KANSAS CITY, April 13 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers erupted for nine runs in two big innings today and coasted to a 10-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics behind the steady pitching of Steve Gromek, their veteran right-hander.

Gromek scattered eight hits, did not walk a batter and struck out three.

The Tigers pounced on four Kansas City pitchers for ten hits, including a home run and double by Harvey Kuenn. Arnold Portocarrero, the Athletics' starting right-hander was clouted hard in the five innings he worked and the loss was charged to him.

The second game of this opening series drew a crowd of 21,868 to Kansas City's damp municipal stadium, soaked again by overnight rain.

Bill Wilson and Vic Power contributed what little power hitting Kansas City showed. Wilson, who had three for three opening day, had three for opening day, smacked a double and single today in four tries. Power duplicated Wilson's output.

DRAFTED BY CELTICS — Carl Hartman, former Ridgeley High School ace, whose four-year scoring record at Alderson-Broaddus College set a new national record, has been drafted by the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. Hartman scored more than 3,000 points during the four years he played for Coach Rex Pyles' Battlers.

Boston Drafts Carl Hartman, Gola Picked By Philadelphia

Milwaukee Selects Ricketts; Stokes Is Named By Rochester

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Philadelphia plucked Tom Gola, one of college basketball's all-time greats, in the draft today and the Warriors immediately were rated among the powerhouses of the National Basketball Association.

Gola, 22-year-old, three-time All-America from LaSalle, was the Warriors' territorial choice. Each team is permitted to draft one player on a college within a 50-mile area and Gola, the most talked about collegian in years, was a cinch to go to Philadelphia.

Touring With Stars

The versatile 6-7, 207 pounder now is touring with the All-Stars, Harlem Globetrotter troupe.

"I haven't talked terms with him yet," said Leo Gottlieb, president, general manager and coach of the Warriors, "but I don't anticipate any trouble. With Gola in there with Neil Johnston, Paul Arizin, Ernie Beck, Larry Hennessey, Corky Devlin and Jack Schafer, we'll be back in the running again."

Johnston and Arizin finished one-two in that order in the NBA scoring. Hennessey and Beck are outstanding service players who will be ready for the next season. Devlin of George Washington and Schafer of Villanova also were drafted today by the Warriors.

Philadelphia has finished no better than last or next to last in the Eastern Division in the last four years.

Ricketts Is Chosen

Dick Ricketts, the springy 6-7 Duquesne ace and the only other All-America eligible for the draft, was picked by Milwaukee.

Dick Garmaker, second team All-America from Minnesota, was the only other player chosen in the territorial draft. He was selected by the Minneapolis Lakers.

After Philadelphia and Minneapolis made their area picks, the other clubs, which had passed territorial choices, were given first choice in the draft, in inverse order of their finish in the pennant race.

Stokes To Rochester

Rochester selected Maurice Stokes of St. Francis (Pa.), the outstanding player of the National Invitation Tournament. He is 6-6 and weighs 235.

Boston grabbed Dick Hemric, 6-6 second team All-America from Wake Forest, and Buzz Wilkinson of Virginia, the major college's second leading scorer with a 32.1 average. Hemric set a major college four-year scoring record with 2,578 points.

George Swyers of West Virginia Tech, runner-up in minor college scoring with a 33.8 mark, was Philadelphia's sixth selection.

Boston Picks Hartman

Other picks included:

Philadelphia—Walter (Corky) Devlin, George Washington; Ed Wiener, Tennessee.

Boston—John Mahoney, William & Mary; Carl Hartman, Alderson-Broaddus.

West Virginia Beats Notre Dame, 5-3

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 13 (AP) — West Virginia University walked into a 5-3 baseball victory over the University of Notre Dame here today before the largest home crowd of the season.

The Mountaineers scored all five runs in the seventh inning on five walks and a bases-loaded double by Ed Lenart.

Pitcher Bernie McClorey had loaded the sacks on three straight walks to open the inning. His replacement, Ron Mottl, walked in two runs, with a strikeout in between, then served up what became Lenart's two-base blow, one of three hits for the Mountaineers.

Pitcher Jim Heise went all the way for West Virginia. It was his fourth victory.

Joey Floored Twice During Non-Title Go

Champion Captures Unanimous Decision, 15,000 See Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13 (AP)—Middleweight champion Bobo Olson, throwing lightning-like punches with both hands, floored Joey Maxim twice tonight and went on to pound out a unanimous verdict over the former light heavyweight king in their nationally televised 10-round fight.

Judge Jack Downey scored it 60-50; Judge John Bassanelli had it 62-48; and Referee Ray Flores 59½-50½. The Associated Press card showed 62-48.

A crowd estimated at 15,000 jammed the Cow Palace for the non-title overweight fight.

Olson weighed 169; Maxim 175.

Maxim went down from a pair of savage right hands to the head midway through the second round, taking a count of eight.

Joey Floored Twice

Olson floored him again in the ninth with a powerful overhand right to the head and left to the jaw as Maxim was falling. This time the former light heavyweight champion was up at the count of six and hanging on.

Olson, sporting a crew cut and a mustache, started his famed body attack with the opening bell. Obviously in superb condition, Olson landed virtually every punch he threw at the slower, bigger Maxim.

Despite the fact he had dropped nearly 15 pounds to reach 175 for this fight, Maxim still looked fleshy about the midsection.

His body was reddened before the first round ended from Olson's two-fisted attack.

Bobo Switches Attack

In the second round, Olson started switching his attack from the body to the head and knocked Maxim off his feet with a pair of overhand rights to the head.

Maxim hit the floor heavily near his own corner but was up at the count of eight. Heeding cries from his corner to "hold on," he weathered the round despite Olson's relentless attack.

The speed of Olson's punches obviously was disconcerting to Maxim, used to fighting bigger and slower men. The smaller Olson swarmed all over him, landing right hands with comparative ease and scoring heavily to win every round.

Wins 21st Straight

The victory was the 21st straight for Olson, who went into the ring a 3-1 favorite. He indicated during his training that if he defeated Maxim decisively he would challenge Archie Moore for the light heavyweight title.

The loss was Maxim's fourth in nine fights over the last three years and probably meant his elimination from the big money boxing field in the future.

Dodgers Jump On Surkont, Turn Back Pittsburgh, 6-1

Gilliam And Furillo Homer In 5-Run 7th

BROOKLYN, April 13 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers warmed a shivering opening day crowd of 6,999 weather-defying spectators today with a five-run assault on Max Surkont in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 tie and defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1 in an inaugural marred by rain, fog and chilling 35 degree weather.

Home runs by Junior Gilliam and Carl Furillo featured the winning rally that brought the Dodgers their fourth successive opening day triumph, the last three against the lowly Pirates.

Carl Erskine, who holds a lifetime 15-5 record against Pittsburgh, went the distance, spacing seven hits, walking five and striking out four. He lost his bid for a shutout in the seventh when Frank Thomas walked and Sid Gordon and Toby Atwell followed with singles. A double play, the third executed by an airtight Dodger infield, prevented further scoring.

The Dodgers combed the offerings of Surkont for all their 11 hits before the stock right-hander was yanked for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Duke Snider paced the Dodgers with a perfect afternoon, two singles, a double and a walk in four times at bat. Furillo and Jackie Robinson got two hits apiece.

Franklin Posts Second PVC Win

Three Runs In 7th Sink Vikings, 11-9

PETERSBURG, W.Va., April 13 — Franklin High School rallied for three runs in the seventh inning today to come from behind and nosed out Petersburg High's Vikings in a Potomac Valley Conference game by the score of 11-9.

It was the second straight conference win of the season for the Panthers.

Harry Knicely, who relieved Jack Depoy in the sixth and pitched two scoreless innings, received credit for the victory. Roy Rumers went all the way for Petersburg which was playing its first game of the season.

The Vikings outhit the Pendleton Countians, 14-10, and included five two-baggers in their collection of safeties. Gene McCauley and Eddie Nelson garnered three hits each.

Charley Lambert, Franklin right fielder, clouted a homer in the fourth inning. Norlyn Bodkin, Ona Puffenbarger and Kiser collected two hits each for the winners.

This game originally was scheduled for Franklin but was transferred here. The teams will meet at Franklin on May 10. Box:

Bruce High Beats LaSalle, 3-1; Olson Decisions Maxim

Bruce Hurler Fans Nine; Three Other Games Rained Out

Donald Wilkinson, righthander, who turned in a 4-2 record in his freshman year for the Bulldogs, pitched Bruce High School to a 3-1 decision over LaSalle High's Explorers yesterday at Penn Avenue Field in the opening game of the season in the Bi-State Baseball Conference.

Three other games billed for yesterday in the nine-team schoolboy circuit were postponed on account of wet grounds.

The Beall at Flintstone game is reset for Wednesday, April 27, the Allegany at Mt. Savage contest is rescheduled for Wednesday, April 20, and Fort Hill will return to Hyndman on Tuesday, April 19.

Wilkinson limited LaSalle's defending co-champions to two singles in yesterday's game, struck out nine and gave up four bases on balls. The LaSalle hits were credited to Joe Conroy and Harold Hudson.

Bruce won the game in the first inning by scoring twice at the expense of Lefty Frank Ritter, who was charged with the loss. The LaSalle hurler yielded another tally in the second frame.

The only run scored by LaSalle came in the opening stanza when Jerry Sheffler walked with the bases loaded.

Joe Conroy, who relieved Ritter in the third inning, yielded only one hit in five frames, failed to issue a pass and struck out eight.

Kuenn Heads Attack, Steve Gromek Victor

KANSAS CITY, April 13 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers erupted for nine runs in two big innings today and coasted to a 10-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics behind the steady pitching of Steve Gromek, their veteran right-hander.

Gromek scattered eight hits, did not walk a batter and struck out three.

The Tigers pounced on four Kansas City pitchers for ten hits, including a home run and double by Harvey Kuenn. Arnold Portocarrero, the Athletics' starting righthander was clouted hard in the five innings he worked and the loss was charged to him.

The second game of this opening series drew a crowd of 21,868 to Kansas City's damp municipal stadium, soaked again by overnight rain.

Bill Wilson and Vic Power contributed what little power hitting Kansas City showed. Wilson, who had three for three opening day, had three for opening day, smacked a double and single today in four tries. Power duplicated Wilson's output.

DRAFTED BY CELTICS — Carl Hartman, former Ridgeley High School ace, whose four-year scoring record at Alderson-Broaddus College set a new national record, has been drafted by the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. Hartman scored more than 3,000 points during the four years he played for Coach Rex Pyles' Battlers.

Boston Drafts Carl Hartman, Gola Picked By Philadelphia

Milwaukee Selects Ricketts; Stokes Is Named By Rochester

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Philadelphia plucked Tom Gola, one of college basketball's all-time greats, in the draft today and the Warriors immediately were rated among the powerhouses of the National Basketball Association.

Gola, 22-year-old, three-time All-America from LaSalle, was the Warriors' territorial choice. Each team is permitted to draft one player on a college within a 50-mile area and Gola, the most talked about collegian in years, was a cinch to go to Philadelphia.

Touring With Stars

The versatile 6-7, 207 pounder now is touring with the All-Stars, Harlem Globetrotter troupe.

"I haven't talked terms with him yet," said Leo Gottlieb, president, general manager and coach of the Warriors, "but I don't anticipate any trouble. With Gola in there with Neil Johnston, Paul Arizin, Ernie Beck, Larry Hennessey, Corky Devlin and Jack Schafer, we'll be back in the running again."

Johnston and Arizin finished one-two in that order in the NBA scoring. Hennessey and Beck are outstanding service players who will be ready for the next season. Devlin of George Washington and Schafer of Villanova also were drafted today by the Warriors.

Philadelphia has finished no better than last or next to last in the Eastern Division in the last four years.

Ricketts Is Chosen

Dick Ricketts, the springy 6-7 Duquesne ace and the only other All-America eligible for the draft, was picked by Milwaukee.

Dick Garmaker, second team All-America from Minnesota, was the only other player chosen in the territorial draft. He was selected by the Minneapolis Lakers.

After Philadelphia and Minneapolis made their area picks, the other clubs, which had passed territorial choices, were given first choice in the draft, in inverse order of their finish in the pennant race.

Stokes To Rochester

Rochester selected Maurice Stokes of St. Francis (Pa.), the outstanding player of the National Invitation Tournament. He is 6-6 and weighs 235.

Boston grabbed Dick Hemric, 6-6 second team All-America from Wake Forest, and Buzz Wilkinson of Virginia, the major college's second leading scorer with a 32.1 average. Hemric set a major college four-year scoring record with 2,578 points.

George Swyers of West Virginia Tech, runner-up in minor college scoring with a 33.8 mark, was Philadelphia's sixth selection.

Boston Picks Hartman

Other picks included:

Philadelphia—Walter (Corky) Devlin, George Washington; Ed Wiener, Tennessee.

Boston—John Mahoney, William & Mary; Carl Hartman, Alderson-Broaddus.

West Virginia Beats Notre Dame, 5-3

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 13 (AP) — West Virginia University walked into a 5-3 baseball victory over the University of Notre Dame here today before the largest home crowd of the season.

The Mountaineers scored all five runs in the seventh inning on five walks and a bases-loaded double by Ed Lenart.

Pitcher Bernie McClorey had loaded the sacks on three straight walks to open the inning. His replacement, Ron Mottl, walked in two runs, with a strikeout in between, then served up what became Lenart's two-base blow, one of three hits for the Mountaineers.

Pitcher Jim Heise went all the way for West Virginia. It was his fourth victory.

Joey Floored Twice During Non-Title Go

Champion Captures Unanimous Decision, 15,000 See Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13 (AP)—Middleweight champion Bobo Olson, throwing lightning-like punches with both hands, floored Joey Maxim twice tonight and went on to pound out a unanimous verdict over the former light heavyweight king in their nationally televised 10-round fight.

Judge Jack Downey scored it 60-50; Judge John Bassanelli had it 62-48; and Referee Ray Flores 59½-50½. The Associated Press card showed 62-48.

A crowd estimated at 15,000 jammed the Cow Palace for the non-title overweight fight.

Olson weighed 169; Maxim 175.

Maxim went down from a pair of savage right hands to the head midway through the second round, taking a count of eight.

Joey Floored Twice

Olson floored him again in the ninth with a powerful overhand right to the head and left to the jaw as Maxim was falling. This time the former light heavyweight champion was up at the count of six and hanging on.

Olson, sporting a crew cut and a mustache, started his famed body attack with the opening bell. Obviously in superb condition, Olson landed virtually every punch he threw at the slower, bigger Maxim.

Despite the fact he had dropped nearly 15 pounds to reach 175 for this fight, Maxim still looked fleshy about the midsection.

His body was reddened before the first round ended from Olson's two-fisted attack.

Bobo Switches Attack

In the second round, Olson started switching his attack from the body to the head and knocked Maxim off his feet with a pair of overhand rights to the head.

Maxim hit the floor heavily near his own corner but was up at the count of eight. Heeding cries from his corner to "hold on," he weathered the round despite Olson's relentless attack.

The speed of Olson's punches obviously was disconcerting to Maxim, used to fighting bigger and slower men. The smaller Olson swarmed all over him, landing right hands with comparative ease and scoring heavily to win every round.

Maxim looked to his corner in bewilderment in the fifth round after Bobo continued to land staggering blows to his head, but received no encouraging advice and continued to hang on as best he could.

Wins 21st Straight

The victory was the 21st straight for Olson, who went into the ring a 3-1 favorite. He indicated during his training that if he defeated Maxim decisively he would challenge Archie Moore for the light heavyweight title.

The loss was Maxim's fourth in nine fights over the last three years and probably meant his elimination from the big money boxing field in the future.

Dodgers Jump On Surkont, Turn Back Pittsburgh, 6-1

Gilliam And Furillo Homer In 5-Run 7th

BROOKLYN, April 13 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers warmed a shivering opening day crowd of 6,999 weather-defying spectators today with a five-run assault on Max Surkont in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 tie and defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1 in an inaugural marred by rain, fog and chilling 35 degree weather.

Home runs by Junior Gilliam and Carl Furillo featured the winning rally that brought the Dodgers their fourth successive opening day triumph, the last three against the lowly Pirates.

Carl Erskine, who holds a lifetime 15-5 record against Pittsburgh, went the distance, spacing seven hits, walking five and striking out four. He lost his bid for a shutout in the seventh when Frank Thomas walked and Sid Gordon and Toby Atwell followed with singles. A double play, the third executed by an airtight Dodger infield, prevented further scoring.

The Dodgers combed the offerings of Surkont for all their 11 hits before the stock right-hander was yanked for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Duke Snider paced the Dodgers with a perfect afternoon, two singles, a double and a walk in four times at bat. Furillo and Jackie Robinson got two hits apiece.

Charley Lambert, Franklin right fielder, clouted a homer in the fourth inning. Norlyn Bodkin, Ona Puffenbarger and Kiser collected two hits each for the winners.

This game originally was scheduled for Franklin but was transferred here. The teams will meet at Franklin on May 10. Box:

New York Makes 16 Hits; Mantle, Berra, Skowron Hit Homers

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP) — Whitey Ford held Washington to two hits and drove in four runs today while Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron hit home runs in a 19-1 New York Yankee opening day romp.

WHITEY FORD

Only 11,251 braved a chill wind and low-hanging mist that sent the temperature diving into the mid-40's. Most of the refrigerated customers had left for the home fireside long before the final out.

Manager Chuck Dressen's Senators, who had enjoyed a two-day stay in the giddy atmosphere of first place, were brought down to earth with a thump as the Yanks clobbered four Washington throwers for 16 hits.

Ford, who didn't win a game until May 15 a year ago, pitched as though it were a steaming afternoon in mid-summer. Just to rub it in, the little lefty singled three times to knock in four runs and scored twice. It was one of the biggest opening day parties the Yanks have enjoyed since the old days of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Co.

Except for a balk in the sixth when he slipped off the mound while pitching to Roy Sievers with Mickey Vernon on third base, Ford would have had a shutout. The only hits were a ground single by Sievers in the fourth and a single to center by Pete Runnels in the sixth.

Washington pitching started badly with Maury McDermott and grew worse progressively as Ted Abernathy, Bill Currie and Vince Gonzales, all making their big league debuts, paraded to the mound. Ford, in contrast, was real sharp with five walks and eight strikeouts.

Mantle hit his three-run homer off Abernathy in the fourth.

Blue Lem, Derby Candidate, Wins At Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla., April 13 (AP)—Harvey C. Fruehauf's Blue Lem, a 20 to 1 chance in the "winter book" for the Kentucky Derby, scored a stretch-running half-length victory in the $7,500 Biscayne Bay Handicap before 10,814 spectators at Gulfstream Park today.

The greatly improved son of Blue Swords and Polemic defeated Clamor, owned by Mrs. Lottie Wolf, in a tremendous stretch surge to gain the decision in the final strides. W. M. Peavey's Jett Flame was two and a quarter lengths behind Clamor while leading M. E. Affeld's Retract by three lengths.

Blue Lem, who finished a neck behind Nashua in the $100,000 Florida Derby in his last start, was a $3.90 favorite. He was timed in 1:48 for a mile and a sixteenth over a muddy track. Heavy rains earlier in the afternoon were responsible for the off track.

Blue Lem earned $4,900 to boost his earnings this year to $37,900. He carried high weight of 120 pounds impressively, conceding 10 to the runner-up. Blue Lem will be shipped to Churchill Downs for the Derby during the next few days to begin training for the Kentucky Derby, according to Trainer J. T. Kermath.

Catchpenny Cops Jamaica Feature

JAMAICA, N.Y., April 13 (AP) — Brandywine Stable's Catchpenny made all her own pace to win the 46th running of the $13,375 Rosedale Stakes at rain-soaked Jamaica today.

The homebred 2-year-old daughter of Revoked-Safety Catch, ridden by Paul Bailey, was clocked in 1:00 1-5 for the five furlongs in scoring by four lengths over Vera S. Bragg's Rosie, who held sway by a length and a quarter over Flying L Stable's Lustralice. There was a spread of another length and a half to Greentree Stable's Little Flask.

It was the first purse in four starts for Catchpenny, who earned a net of $9,750 for Donald P. Ross, president of Delaware Park, who races as the Brandywine Stable.

Given but lukewarm support in the mutuels, Catchpenny paid $19.30, $10.10 and $7.70. Rosie was $9.00 and $6.90 and Lustralice was $9.10 to show.

Irvin Averts Shutout With 2-Run Double

Phillies' Ace Has No-Hitter Going Until 9th Inning

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, April 13 (AP) — Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies came within two outs of recording the second opening day no hit, no run game in major league history today as the doughty righthander turned back the New York Giants 4-2 before 13,219 fans at Connie Mack Stadium.

Robin Roberts

Roberts, making his sixth straight inaugural day appearance—he now has won three and lost three—embarked on what he hopes will be his sixth straight 20 victory season. The 29-year-old hurler pitched brilliantly on a day better fitted for football. It was a cloudy, rain-threatened afternoon with the temperature hovering in the low 50s.

Bobble Starts Rally

The cold-numbed spectators envisioned a no hitter as the Phillies took the field for the ninth inning. Roberts had been nigh invincible, allowing only two walks to that point. He was shooting to equal the only opening day no-hitter tossed by Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians against the Chicago White Sox on April 16, 1940.

Dusty Rhodes batted for relief pitcher Marv Grissom to open the ninth and was safe when shortstop Granny Hamner bobbled his grounder. Whitey Lockman popped to the same Hamner bringing Alvin Dark, the Giant captain to the plate. Roberts had a no-ball two-strike count when Dark reached out and lashed an outside pitch to right for the Giants first hit.

Mays Goes Hitless

Willie Mays, who went hitless for the day, struck out, but Monte Irvin belted a long double to center scoring both Rhodes and Dark. Roberts appeared in trouble when Henry Thompson topped a single down the third base line, but the big right hander tightened his belt and got Don Mueller on a fly to right.

Earlier, the Phillies had built up a 4-0 lead on starter Johnny Antonelli, the Giants lefty who won 21 and lost 7 last year, and Grissom, a star relief hurler for the world champions.

Manager Mayor Smith of the Phillies decided not to play his injured outfield stars, Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn, because of the slippery turf. They were hurt in an exhibition game last week.

Robinson And Olla Fight At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, April 13 (AP)—The question of Sugar Ray Robinson's ring future should be answered here tomorrow night, says the manager of the once great two-class champion.

Robinson makes his fourth start in his comeback climb when he meets tough, young Ted Olla of Milwaukee in a 10-round bout at the Sports Arena here.

Robinson says "I'll be the first to call it quits if I look bad against Olla." But he's sure he won't.

Officers will be elected and team boundaries established at a meeting of the newly formed Tri-State Pony Baseball League tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Corriganville Fire Hall.

New York Makes 16 Hits; Mantle, Berra, Skowron Hit Homers

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP) — Whitey Ford held Washington to two hits and drove in four runs today while Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron hit home runs in a 19-1 New York Yankee opening day romp.

WHITEY FORD

Only 11,251 braved a chill wind and low-hanging mist that sent the temperature diving into the mid-40's. Most of the refrigerated customers had left for the home fireside long before the final out.

Manager Chuck Dressen's Senators, who had enjoyed a two-day stay in the giddy atmosphere of first place, were brought down to earth with a thump as the Yanks clobbered four Washington throwers for 16 hits.

Ford, who didn't win a game until May 15 a year ago, pitched as though it were a steaming afternoon in mid-summer. Just to rub it in, the little lefty singled three times to knock in four runs and scored twice. It was one of the biggest opening day parties the Yanks have enjoyed since the old days of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Co.

Except for a balk in the sixth when he slipped off the mound while pitching to Roy Sievers with Mickey Vernon on third base, Ford would have had a shutout. The only hits were a ground single by Sievers in the fourth and a single to center by Pete Runnels in the sixth.

Washington pitching started badly with Maury McDermott and grew worse progressively as Ted Abernathy, Bill Currie and Vince Gonzales, all making their big league debuts, paraded to the mound. Ford, in contrast, was real sharp with five walks and eight strikeouts.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13 (AP) — Jim Pollard, 32-year-old pro basketball star, today accepted what he termed "one of the 10 best basketball coaching jobs in the country," the court post at LaSalle College.

LaSalle Athletic Director Jim Henry announced that Pollard, three-time all-pro star with the Minneapolis Lakers in the National Basketball Assn., telephoned his acceptance from Minneapolis. Pollard will get $8,500 a year on a three-year contract.

Pollard succeeds Ken Loeffler who resigned a few weeks ago to take a similar post at Texas A. & M. Loeffler led the LaSalle team, third ranked in the nation this past season, to the runner-up spot in the 1955 NCAA tourney.

Robinson And Olla Fight At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, April 13 (AP)—The question of Sugar Ray Robinson's ring future should be answered here tomorrow night, says the manager of the once great two-class champion.

Robinson makes his fourth start in his comeback climb when he meets tough, young Ted Olla of Milwaukee in a 10-round bout at the Sports Arena here.

"I firmly believe we'll know after this fight tomorrow night whether Robinson has anything left," said his longtime manager, George Gainford. "And I promise you one thing—I'll tell him whether he's through or not."

Olla, 24, is Robinson's junior by 10 years. He's not a fancy boxer but can give and take a good punch.

Robinson says "I'll be the first to call it quits if I look bad against Olla." But he's sure he won't.

Miss Erlen, Top Choice, Runs Sixth

Flashy Harp Gains 2nd Money With Display Song 3rd

BOWIE, Md., April 13 (AP) — Spanish Queen, owned, trained and ridden by various members of the Homer S. Mitchell family, drove to a three-length victory here today in the $3,000 purse featured fifth race.

Miss Erlen went off 3-5 favorite with the crowd of 11,000 fans, but she weakened after showing early speed and wound up sixth in the nine-horse field.

Spanish Queen, trained by Homer S. Mitchell, owned by Mrs. Mitchell and ridden by their son, Dixie Dean Mitchell, scampered through along the rail in the 4½-furlong 2-year-old test to be drawing clear at the finish.

She returned a $102.40 mutuel and was timed in 53 1-5 seconds over a good track on this cloudy afternoon.

Mrs. H. A. Parr 3d's Coalport was 4-5 in the second race and Suppressor was 4-5 in the fourth.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Miss Erlen, Top Choice, Runs Sixth

Flashy Harp Gains 2nd Money With Display Song 3rd

BOWIE, Md., April 13 (AP) — Spanish Queen, owned, trained and ridden by various members of the Homer S. Mitchell family, drove to a three-length victory here today in the $3,000 purse featured fifth race.

Miss Erlen went off 3-5 favorite with the crowd of 11,000 fans, but she weakened after showing early speed and wound up sixth in the nine-horse field.

Spanish Queen, trained by Homer S. Mitchell, owned by Mrs. Mitchell and ridden by their son, Dixie Dean Mitchell, scampered through along the rail in the 4½-furlong 2-year-old test to be drawing clear at the finish.

She returned a $102.40 mutuel and was timed in 53 1-5 seconds over a good track on this cloudy afternoon.

Spanish Queen, making the sixth start of her career, was a winner in February at Oaklawn Park and also gained second money in another juvenile dash at the Arkansas track.

Miss Erlen, owned by the Erlen Stable, was the day's third odds-on favorite to be defeated.

Mrs. H. A. Parr 3d's Coalport was 4-5 in the second race and Suppressor was 4-5 in the fourth.

The daily double was worth $103.20 with Max's Reward ($5) and Titian Maid ($32) accounting for the first and second races, respectively.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Daylight Time Begins April 24 In Mineral Co.

OAKLAND — Garrett County has decided to get into step with the majority of other communities in this section and go on Daylight Saving Time Sunday, April 24, at 2 a. m.

The decision was a joint one by the Board of Education and the Board of County Commissioners.

The action means that public schools and county offices will operate on Daylight Time. Oakland and several other Garrett County communities had previously indicated a preference for Daylight Time.

This is the first time the county has gone daylight except during war years when it was observed nationally.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the county commissioners, said the move was deemed advisable to give citizens an opportunity to form an opinion when the matter comes up for a vote in November 1956.

"Under present conditions we have nothing but confusion with some parts of the county on Standard Time, others on Daylight Time," he said.

"This way it will be uniform," he added.

County School Superintendent Willard L. Hawkins said the uniform time also would cause less confusion among schools.

Swartzentruber said the vote was unanimous by members of both boards.

Daylight Time Begins April 24 In Mineral Co.

OAKLAND — Garrett County has decided to get into step with the majority of other communities in this section and go on Daylight Saving Time Sunday, April 24, at 2 a. m.

The decision was a joint one by the Board of Education and the Board of County Commissioners.

The action means that public schools and county offices will operate on Daylight Time. Oakland and several other Garrett County communities had previously indicated a preference for Daylight Time.

This is the first time the county has gone daylight except during war years when it was observed nationally.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the county commissioners, said the move was deemed advisable to give citizens an opportunity to form an opinion when the matter comes up for a vote in November 1956.

"Under present conditions we have nothing but confusion with some parts of the county on Standard Time, others on Daylight Time," he said.

"This way it will be uniform," he added.

County School Superintendent Willard L. Hawkins said the uniform time also would cause less confusion among schools.

Swartzentruber said the vote was unanimous by members of both boards.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 13 (INS) — James Dean, hottest new star of the year and Warners' pride and joy, goes to MGM to play former champ Rocky Graziano in Rocky's life story, "Somebody Up There Likes Me."

If you're wondering how come Warners are parting with Dean even temporarily, remember that MGM is loaning Elizabeth Taylor to Warners for George Stevens' "Giant" in which Dean also appears.

The Graziano story, which appeared serially in a national magazine, has been turned over for scripting to Ernest Lehman who did "Executive Suite." It's a long jump from the sensitive youth Dean plays in "East of Eden" to a prize fighter, but I guess this boy can play anything.

Ingrid Bergman won't be playing "Anastasia" this year, my dear. Darryl Zanuck talked with her, it's true, but Ingrid will never come to America, never! And Darryl will never make "Anastasia" in Rome, never! So that's the way it stands.

Up to now he doesn't know who he'll get. I asked him why he didn't sign Viveca Lindfors, who is so terrific in the play. He said he might, but he hadn't decided. He thinks Eugenie Leontovich, who is also in "Anastasia" on Broadway, is great and he'd like to get her. But he can't make the picture until 1956, so right now he isn't worried about casting.

Don't ever tell me that Grace Kelly is cold. Never let anyone say that. She won everyone's heart at the Variety Club dinner at the El Rancho Vegas in Las Vegas.

She stayed over just to present me my award and she posed for picture after picture with the greatest patience I've ever seen. No one enjoyed the great acts more than she did, and no one laughed harder.

She came with Cary Grant and Betsy Drake (Mrs. Cary), and one of the laughs of the evening was when Betsy was introduced and applauded harder than anyone else. She didn't hear her name and didn't know that the master of ceremonies was introducing her. Cary laughed so hard the tears rolled down his cheeks.

"From your recent columns we learn that —

Mario can't crow
Marilyn won't show
Pickford wants dough
Goldwyn says 'no!'
Zsa Zsa's free to go
To Rubiroso
Rita's gonna blow
From 'Brethren and His Joe'
Now wot else do you know?"

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The dinner given me by the Variety Clubs is something I shall never forget as long as I live. The good done by Variety Clubs for handicapped and underprivileged children is great.

Gregory Ratoff on his way to Hollywood, and wearing a full beard for his role of Farouk, stopped at the El Rancho Vegas for the party. Sonja Henie, who was supposed to plane out, stayed over

Daily Bridge Lesson

CONCERNING PENALTY DOUBLES

THE PARTICULAR type of penalty double made by East, below, is common in "social games," but it gives any expert "the shudders."

West dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ Q 6 ♥ 7 5 3 ♦ A Q 8 ♣ A Q J 7 4
♠ A K 7 3 2 ♥ A Q 6 ♦ K J 9 3 ♣ 5	N W E S	♠ 9 4 ♥ 8 2 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K 10 9 8 6 2
	♠ J 10 8 5 ♥ K J 10 9 4 ♦ 10 6 5 ♣ 3

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♣	Dble.	2 ♥
Dble.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Only in the rarest instances should a player make a low-level penalty double of one suit when that is the only suit against which he has defense. The best that can be said for such a double is that it may keep the doubler's partner from making a dangerous rebid; but against this, other possible repercussions are far more numerous and far less favorable. The likely effect of this sort of double is to drive the enemy into another contract which the doubler's partner, in all innocence and with considerable reason, will double on his own account, looking to his helpmate for defense in more than one direction.

Thus, in the case at hand, after East doubled two clubs, West certainly had reason to feel that two hearts could be punished, and the opponents' vulnerability made West's double all the more attractive. Unfortunately, however, East could not contribute a trick to the defense except his third round overruff of dummy in spades, and since West himself could add only two heart tricks to the total, the doubled contract was fulfilled, giving North-South game and rubber.

Some readers may take the stand that each double, like each bid, must be made on the player's own responsibility, and that West had no right to double two hearts simply because East had doubled two clubs. This idea, however, has no practical application. Each bid, pass or double made by either partner becomes a vital link in a chain, and from the first round on, each partner must, in a very real sense, take into account the 26 cards of the partnership rather than the 13 cards facing him. The age-old cry, 'Don't bid my cards, partner!" has very little justification in fact.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 13 (INS) — James Dean, hottest new star of the year and Warners' pride and joy, goes to MGM to play former champ Rocky Graziano in Rocky's life story, "Somebody Up There Likes Me."

If you're wondering how come Warners are parting with Dean even temporarily, remember that MGM is loaning Elizabeth Taylor to Warners for George Stevens' "Giant" in which Dean also appears.

The Graziano story, which appeared serially in a national magazine, has been turned over for scripting to Ernest Lehman who did "Executive Suite." It's a long jump from the sensitive youth Dean plays in "East of Eden" to a prize fighter, but I guess this boy can play anything.

Ingrid Bergman won't be playing "Anastasia" this year, my dear. Darryl Zanuck talked with her, it's true, but Ingrid will never come to America, never! And Darryl will never make "Anastasia" in Rome, never! So that's the way it stands.

CONCERNING PENALTY DOUBLES

THE PARTICULAR type of penalty double made by East, below, is common in "social games," but it gives any expert "the shudders."

West dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ Q 6 ♥ 7 5 3 ♦ A Q 8 ♣ A Q J 7 4
♠ A K 7 3 2 ♥ A Q 6 ♦ K J 9 3 ♣ 5	N W E S	♠ 9 4 ♥ 8 2 ♦ 7 4 2 ♣ K 10 9 8 6 2
	♠ J 10 8 5 ♥ K J 10 9 4 ♦ 10 6 5 ♣ 3

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♣	Dble.	2 ♥
Dble.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Only in the rarest instances should a player make a low-level penalty double of one suit when that is the only suit against which he has defense. The best that can be said for such a double is that it may keep the doubler's partner from making a dangerous rebid; but against this, other possible repercussions are far more numerous and far less favorable. The likely effect of this sort of double is to drive the enemy into another contract which the doubler's partner, in all innocence and with considerable reason, will double on his own account, looking to his helpmate for defense in more than one direction.

Thus, in the case at hand, after East doubled two clubs, West certainly had reason to feel that two hearts could be punished, and the opponents' vulnerability made West's double all the more attractive. Unfortunately, however, East could not contribute a trick to the defense except his third round overruff of dummy in spades, and since West himself could add only two heart tricks to the total, the doubled contract was fulfilled, giving North-South game and rubber.

Some readers may take the stand that each double, like each bid, must be made on the player's own responsibility, and that West had no right to double two hearts simply because East had doubled two clubs. This idea, however, has no practical application. Each bid, pass or double made by either partner becomes a vital link in a chain, and from the first round on, each partner must, in a very real sense, take into account the 26 cards of the partnership rather than the 13 cards facing him. The age-old cry, 'Don't bid my cards, partner!" has very little justification in fact.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Richard LaRue, who died April 14, 1954.

What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see.
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.

Etta and Children.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Richard LaRue, who died April 14, 1954.

What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see.
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.

Etta and Children.

DeWitt Guilty In Second Degree

Jury Weighs Verdict For Five Hours

Sentence Withheld In Smothering Of Infant Daughter

(Special to The News)

OAKLAND — Robert William DeWitt, 27-year-old father of three, was found guilty of murder in the second degree in the death of his three-month-old daughter by an all-male Garrett County Circuit Court jury last night.

The jury got the case at 3:30 p. m. and deliberated until about 9 p. m. before announcing its verdict.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley withheld sentence.

Maryland law sets the penalty for murder in the second degree at five to 18 years in prison. After sentencing, DeWitt could appeal. In the meantime, he could file a motion for a new trial within three days after conviction.

DeWitt took the witness stand yesterday morning to refute statements he allegedly made in a "confession" which was admitted as evidence.

Judge Fraley delivered the final instructions to the jury at the request of the defense and informed the jurors that one of five verdicts could be reached:

1. Guilty of first degree murder.
2. Guilty of first degree murder but without capital punishment.
3. Guilty of second degree murder.
4. Not guilty of murder but guilty of manslaughter.
5. Not guilty.

Denies "Deal"

DeWitt's counsel, appointed by the court, asked for acquittal, saying the state had absolutely no case "except the testimony of three criminals," including that of Robert Lichliter, 49, who has served 18 years in prison.

Yesterday afternoon Sheriff Paul Fisher reviewed his testimony, denied making any promise of leniency to DeWitt, and also denied helping him write a "confession" which was brought out earlier in the day.

Cpl. Sam Conrad, in reviewing his testimony said that the defendant had been instructed he was being served in a warrant when authorities went to Buena Vista to bring DeWitt back to Oakland.

State's Attorney Pagenhardt, when called back to the stand denied that he told DeWitt the state had enough evidence for murder in the first degree.

Juror Becomes Ill

Court was recessed about ten minutes yesterday afternoon when one of the jurors became sick, as the courtroom was again jammed and the temperature rose to about 85 degrees inside the building.

Dr. Thomas F. Lusby, Oakland physician and a state witness, who was at the scene when the child's body was dug up, said the bones were wrapped in a blanket and the cause of death could not be determined.

However, he said, no bones were broken and there was no evidence of foul play. Dr. Lusby said that a child between birth and the age of three months can easily die of natural causes during the night.

Yesterday morning the confession and other damaging testimony were leveled by the state against DeWitt.

In addition to the confession, there was testimony from cellmates who said DeWitt had told them the details of the death of his child—a baby he had never held in his arms from the time of her birth.

Little Patricia Ann DeWitt was found in a shallow grave in February near the family's former home. Death was set on October 6 by DeWitt.

Confession Admitted

Lease Charged In Auto Theft

A criminal information charging William D. R. Lease, 24, of Bowman's Addition with grand larceny in the theft of a $550 automobile owned by Robert C. Huffman of Hyndman, Pa., was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Lease and four other young men and boys were arrested in Arlington, Va., and returned here. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said investigation showed that Lease's four companions had nothing to do with the theft of Huffman's car from in front of Circle Inn on McMullen Highway February 20.

Virginia authorities who first picked up Lease said that Huffman's car had been converted into a "hot rod" after it was stolen. The front grill, hood and trunk had been changed, fender skirts added and chrome removed.

Also placed on the docket yesterday was a charge against Hugh Donahue of selling beer on Sunday, January 16, in his establishment on Main Street in Frostburg. The charge was preferred by Edward R. Willison, liquor inspector, who said beer was being sold at 1:20 a. m. on Sunday.

One Person Hurt In 2-Car Crash On Town Hill

A 20-year-old youth was hospitalized yesterday evening with injuries sustained in a two-car crash on Town Hill along U.S. Route 40, about 20 miles east of here. Both automobiles were traveling west.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital for X-rays and observation was James Horace Hubbard, of Alabama, who is visiting with residents of RD 1, city.

Attaches said he suffered a right arm injury and was admitted at 6:40 p.m. State Police said the accident occurred on a stretch of wet pavement as a car driven by George B. Molton, RD 1, Pottsville, Pa., went into a skid.

When the 57-year-old Pennsylvanian attempted to pass the car driven by Richard Ednon Twigg, 33, of RD 2, city, his car sideswiped the other car and drove it into the guard rail to the right of the highway.

The Molton auto continued down the highway in a skid and also rammed up against the guard rail. Young Hubbard was riding in the right front seat of Twigg's car, police said.

Trooper First Class Jack Browning, who investigated the accident which occurred about 4:30 p.m., said the probable cause was due to Molton trying to apply his brakes too hard while the car was out of control.

An investigation is being continued. Damage to both cars, police said, was approximately $575.

Passenger Hurt In Cab Crash

Faulty brakes were blamed for an accident yesterday afternoon when a local taxicab got out of control and struck an upright pillar at the Queen City Station parking area, injuring a passenger.

Treated at Memorial Hospital was James Carroll, 47, of 14 Oak Street, who suffered a head injury. Police said Dewey Shoemaker, driver of the cab, was going west on Harrison Street, and was making a left turn into the parking area when the mishap occurred.

Shoemaker told police his brakes failed as he was coming down the incline. Officer Walter Crabtree went to the scene of the accident while City Police Detectives James E. Van and Thomas See reported to the hospital to investigate the mishap which occurred about 3:20 p. m.

Health Workers Await Word On Vaccine Supply

State Officials Study Scheduling Of Shots

The Allegany County Health Department is awaiting word from the State Department of Health to come and get its supplies of polio vaccine, which is to be given to some 3,000 first and second graders here beginning Monday.

Plans have been made for the Allegany County Health Department to pick up supplies of the vaccine in Baltimore and deliver it to the Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett County health departments.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, is scheduled to give the first shots in the program, hailed as a major development in medical history.

Study Scheduling

The State Health Department yesterday was considering whether to give a course of three polio vaccination shots this spring or limit it to two with a booster shot to follow seven months later.

Dr. Edward Davens, chief of the Bureau of Preventive Medicine, took up the matter with other State and city officials and the State Technical Advisory Committee on Poliomyelitis.

Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine, advocates the series of two with a booster.

Meanwhile, the first shipment of vaccine arrived at Friendship Airport in Baltimore yesterday. It was a consignment of 8,000 packages for a Baltimore drug firm which plans to sell it to private physicians.

A bigger shipment for free distribution to first and second graders throughout the state is expected soon.

Others will have to pay for shots from their doctors. The charge is expected to be the cost of three office visits plus the price of the vaccine, or about $15 to $20 for the three shots.

Dr. Frantz said the big program will get under way Monday with the first of the three scheduled inoculations to be completed in all schools by Tuesday, April 26.

The Health Department is setting up various centers instead of going to each school. Pupils will be transported to these central points.

Gilchrist Says Vote Machines Contract Signed Before Bids

The Shoup Voting Machine Corporation of Philadelphia did not submit its bid for supplying 103 voting machines for Allegany County until after the County Board of Election Supervisors already had awarded the contract to its competitor, C. William Gilchrist, local attorney for the company, said yesterday.

Gilchrist made the observation in comment upon a statement made Tuesday by William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors, that the election board had bids from both firms before awarding the contract to the Automatic Voting Machine Company.

Judge Henderson Defers Decision In Damage Suit

After hearing testimony from 12 witnesses and arguments by the two attorneys in a $6,500 suit resulting from water damage to the office of a local surgeon, Chief Judge George Henderson took the case under advisement in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Henderson said he wanted to check the law cited by the attorneys in their arguments before he finally decides the case.

Dr. A. J. Mirkin, whose office is situated at 115 South Centre Street, brought suit against the Deeley Dental Supply Company of Baltimore. His office was damaged when a water line leading to the dental office of Dr. Robert K. Poling, directly above Dr. Mirkin's office, broke. The defendant company had been installing new dental equipment in Dr. Poling's office.

Police Officer Frank Bowen, who discovered water running from the building about 2 a. m. November 14, was the first witness in the day-long trial. He said the water was two inches deep in Dr. Mirkin's office.

Among other witnesses were Police Sgt. James W. Brown, Officer George E. Pfeiffer, Claude Twigg of the City Water Department who was called to turn off the water into the building; and Henry N. Dressman, who repaired Dr. Mirkin's office.

Another witness was John Mertens, local plumber, who was called in by Dr. Poling after the water line break to make the necessary repairs. The line had been installed by a Baltimore man.

Clarence Lippel, Dr. Mirkin's attorney, argued that his client's losses as result of the water damage were over $5,000 not counting anything for personal inconvenience in the six weeks he could not use the office.

Thomas N. Berry, attorney for the defendant, said the company was not responsible for the break in the water line. In fixing damages there is only the responsibility of placing damaged property in the condition in which it existed before the accident occurred, he said, adding that the office is much nicer now than before the accident.

Dr. Brandt will serve as consultant at the workshop tomorrow.

The night meeting is planned to give men and teachers who cannot attend the workshop an opportunity to hear the consultant. A special invitation has been extended to Health Department personnel, representatives of the League for Crippled Children, Juvenile Court attaches and Welfare Board members. Higgins emphasized that the general public is invited.

Alternate Plan For Flood Work To Be Acted On

A delegation of Ridgeley residents met yesterday with city officials and agreed unanimously on a modification of plans for the upcoming flood protection project, and Mayor Roy W. Eves said officials of Cumberland and Ridgeley plan to forward official resolutions on the plan to the Corps of Engineers.

Mayor Eves said an alternate plan was worked out some time ago to save the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company's sand and gravel plant and to protect the jobs of the workers.

This alternate plan, he added, alarmed residents of Ridgeley, who reported they did not feel the plan would give proper protection.

Work Out Alternate

A committee of Ridgeley residents, he added, went to Washington March 31 to confer with the Corps of Engineers, and came to an agreement on another alternative.

This plan was explained to city officials Tuesday by officials of the Corps of Engineers, and it was suggested that the city get official approval by the Ridgeley Council.

Mayor Eves said the plan was explained in detail to 14 residents of Ridgeley who met yesterday in City Hall for the meeting arranged by Mayor W. D. Bidinger.

Councils To Act

He said Mayor Bidinger plans to call a special meeting of the town council Friday to pass the necessary resolution, and that similar action is to be taken by the City of Cumberland on Monday.

Mayor Eves said the work is covered by the contract for which bids were opened yesterday, and that the Corps of Engineers wants the issue settled so it can notify the contractor of the change in extending the end of the levee.

He said the change will give protection to a greater area and more people.

The latest plan, Mayor Eves said, will save an estimated $98,000 over the original plan, with the city's share in the savings estimated at about $69,000.

Knights Hear Talk On GOC

Members of Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night heard a talk by Sgt. Frank Carbone on the Ground Observer Corps.

Sgt. Carbone, with the U. S. Air Force, is stationed at the filter center in Pittsburgh, and talked on the various phases of GOC work.

The Knights were also shown a movie depicting GOC activity. Sgt. Carbone, who said that Allegany County maintains one of the best GOC organizations in the nation, pointed out that he is affiliated with such work in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Sgt. Carbone, a veteran of World War II, is with the Interceptor base of F86 fighters in the Pittsburgh area.

J. Donald Murray, faithful navigator of the Fourth Degree here, presided over the meeting and announced the next meeting would be held May 10.

Building Trades Pact Will Be Discussed

A meeting has been scheduled Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the AFL Labor Temple to discuss a new contract for the construction industry here.

Attending will be officials of general and sub-contractors and heads of the Building and Construction Trades Council.

The present contract is due to expire on April 30.

Albrecht Bids Low On Flood Control Job

Contract Includes Work In City, Ridgeley And In River Channel

The E. J. Albrecht Company, of Chicago, yesterday submitted the apparent low bid of $817,480 for the next contract on the $17,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection project.

Bids on the contract, which includes about a mile of Potomac River channel improvement, about 1½ miles of levees and 600 feet of concrete flood wall were opened yesterday in Washington by the Corps of Army Engineers.

An Associated Press dispatch listed the second lowest bidder as the Buck and Donoho Company, Newark, N. J., $899,367, and the third as the Wright Contracting Company, Columbus, Ga., $1,043,780.

Is Well Known Here

The Albrecht Company is well known here as it last year completed several major phases of the big flood protection job, including improvements made to date on the Wills Creek channel and the construction of the Industrial Dam at Riverside Park.

The Wright Contracting Company last fall completed the West Side flood wall and at present is laying the deck of the Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge which is built on abutments provided when the dam was built.

The contract covers the raising of Kelly Boulevard and the construction of an earth levee to the West Side flood wall, and a levee from the downstream end of the wall to the confluence of Wills Creek and the river.

To Start In May

In Ridgeley, work includes about 600 feet of concrete flood wall, from the Western Maryland yards to a point opposite the Potomac Edison power plant. Then the West Ridgeley levee will begin and continue to the cliffs opposite the Moose Home here. It will start again near the Blue Bridge, follow the river to near Ridgeley High School, where it will mark a semicircle to connect with a bank along Route 28.

The work also includes a realignment and excavation from the upstream end of Smith Island along the West Virginia side of the river about a mile downstream to a point below the Knobley Mountain railroad tunnel.

Senator J. Glenn Beall reported recently the contractor will be allowed 600 calendar days to complete the work, which is expected to start early in May.

Local Resident Sues Virginian

A $12,000 damage suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by a local man who contends that he was injured and his automobile damaged extensively when his car was struck by a two-and-one-half ton truck on Baltimore Street.

Fred M. Propst, 323 City View Terrace, filed the suit against Russell Gordon Didawick, RFD 3, Winchester, Va. The suit was docketed for Propst by Attorney William L. Wilson.

The plaintiff states in his declaration that he had to stop his car for a red light while traveling west on Baltimore Street at Centre Street on or about February 7.

The brakes on Didawick's truck failed and he crashed into the car, Propst asserted. His car was damaged extensively and he suffered injuries to his back, spine and right leg and lost considerable time from his work at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, he added.

Cracked Brake Drum Caused Bus Accident

Guy M. Davis, owner of the Cumberland Transit Lines, yesterday said that the cause of the accident in which one of the buses ran into a porch of a Bowman's Addition home Tuesday was due to a brake drum cracking, catching on the shoes and locking the wheel.

He added that nothing had happened to the steering sector as previously reported by the driver and by police who investigated.

The Weather

A gloomy day went into the records yesterday. There was little sun, occasional drizzles periodically during the day and the temperature stayed in the 40s officially all day. The official high at Constitution Park was 47 and the low 42. At 6 p. m. the humidity was 96 per cent and .04 inches of rain was recorded during the day. This morning it is supposed to be cloudy with much warmer temperatures coming in the afternoon along with scattered showers.

Sentence Withheld In Smothering Of Infant Daughter

(Special to The News)

OAKLAND — Robert William DeWitt, 27-year-old father of three, was found guilty of murder in the second degree in the death of his three-month-old daughter by an all-male Garrett County Circuit Court jury last night.

The jury got the case at 3:30 p. m. and deliberated until about 9 p. m. before announcing its verdict.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley withheld sentence.

Maryland law sets the penalty for murder in the second degree at five to 18 years in prison. After sentencing, DeWitt could appeal. In the meantime, he could file a motion for a new trial within three days after conviction.

DeWitt took the witness stand yesterday morning to refute statements he allegedly made in a "confession" which was admitted as evidence.

Judge Fraley delivered the final instructions to the jury at the request of the defense and informed the jurors that one of five verdicts could be reached:

1. Guilty of first degree murder.
2. Guilty of first degree murder but without capital punishment.
3. Guilty of second degree murder.
4. Not guilty of murder but guilty of manslaughter.
5. Not guilty.

The defendant appeared calm yesterday afternoon as the state and defense counsel presented closing arguments.

Denies "Deal"

DeWitt's counsel, appointed by the court, asked for acquittal, saying the state had absolutely no case "except the testimony of three criminals," including that of Robert Lichliter, 49, who has served 18 years in prison.

Yesterday afternoon Sheriff Paul Fisher reviewed his testimony, denied making any promise of leniency to DeWitt, and also denied helping him write a "confession" which was brought out earlier in the day.

Cpl. Sam Conrad, in reviewing his testimony said that the defendant had been instructed he was being served in a warrant when authorities went to Buena Vista to bring DeWitt back to Oakland.

State's Attorney Pagenhardt, when called back to the stand denied that he told DeWitt the state had enough evidence for murder in the first degree.

Juror Becomes Ill

Court was recessed about ten minutes yesterday afternoon when one of the jurors became sick, as the courtroom was again jammed and the temperature rose to about 85 degrees inside the building.

Dr. Thomas F. Lusby, Oakland physician and a state witness, who was at the scene when the child's body was dug up, said the bones were wrapped in a blanket and the cause of death could not be determined.

However, he said, no bones were broken and there was no evidence of foul play. Dr. Lusby said that a child between birth and the age of three months can easily die of natural causes during the night.

Yesterday morning the confession and other damaging testimony were leveled by the state against DeWitt.

In addition to the confession, there was testimony from cellmates who said DeWitt had told them the details of the death of his child—a baby he had never held in his arms from the time of her birth.

Little Patricia Ann DeWitt was found in a shallow grave in February near the family's former home. Death was set on October 6 by DeWitt.

Confession Admitted

Lease Charged In Auto Theft

A criminal information charging William D. R. Lease, 24, of Bowman's Addition with grand larceny in the theft of a $550 automobile owned by Robert C. Huffman of Hyndman, Pa., was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Lease and four other young men and boys were arrested in Arlington, Va., and returned here. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said investigation showed that Lease's four companions had nothing to do with the theft of Huffman's car from in front of Circle Inn on McMullen Highway February 20.

Virginia authorities who first picked up Lease said that Huffman's car had been converted into a "hot rod" after it was stolen. The front grill, hood and trunk had been changed, fender skirts added and chrome removed.

Also placed on the docket yesterday was a charge against Hugh Donahue of selling beer on Sunday, January 16, in his establishment on Main Street in Frostburg. The charge was preferred by Edward R. Willison, liquor inspector, who said beer was being sold at 1:20 a. m. on Sunday.

One Person Hurt In 2-Car Crash On Town Hill

A 20-year-old youth was hospitalized yesterday evening with injuries sustained in a two-car crash on Town Hill along U.S. Route 40, about 20 miles east of here. Both automobiles were traveling west.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital for X-rays and observation was James Horace Hubbard, of Alabama, who is visiting with residents of RD 1, city.

Attaches said he suffered a right arm injury and was admitted at 6:40 p.m. State Police said the accident occurred on a stretch of wet pavement as a car driven by George B. Molton, RD 1, Pottsville, Pa., went into a skid.

When the 57-year-old Pennsylvanian attempted to pass the car driven by Richard Ednon Twigg, 33, of RD 2, city, his car sideswiped the other car and drove it into the guard rail to the right of the highway.

The Molton auto continued down the highway in a skid and also rammed up against the guard rail. Young Hubbard was riding in the right front seat of Twigg's car, police said.

Trooper First Class Jack Browning, who investigated the accident which occurred about 4:30 p.m., said the probable cause was due to Molton trying to apply his brakes too hard while the car was out of control.

An investigation is being continued. Damage to both cars, police said, was approximately $575.

Passenger Hurt In Cab Crash

Faulty brakes were blamed for an accident yesterday afternoon when a local taxicab got out of control and struck an upright pillar at the Queen City Station parking area, injuring a passenger.

Treated at Memorial Hospital was James Carroll, 47, of 14 Oak Street, who suffered a head injury. Police said Dewey Shoemaker, driver of the cab, was going west on Harrison Street, and was making a left turn into the parking area when the mishap occurred.

Shoemaker told police his brakes failed as he was coming down the incline. Officer Walter Crabtree went to the scene of the accident while City Police Detectives James E. Van and Thomas See reported to the hospital to investigate the mishap which occurred about 3:20 p. m.

Health Workers Await Word On Vaccine Supply

State Officials Study Scheduling Of Shots

The Allegany County Health Department is awaiting word from the State Department of Health to come and get its supplies of polio vaccine, which is to be given to some 3,000 first and second graders here beginning Monday.

Plans have been made for the Allegany County Health Department to pick up supplies of the vaccine in Baltimore and deliver it to the Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett County health departments.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, is scheduled to give the first shots in the program, hailed as a major development in medical history.

Study Scheduling

The State Health Department yesterday was considering whether to give a course of three polio vaccination shots this spring or limit it to two with a booster shot to follow seven months later.

Dr. Edward Davens, chief of the Bureau of Preventive Medicine, took up the matter with other State and city officials and the State Technical Advisory Committee on Poliomyelitis.

Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine, advocates the series of two with a booster.

Meanwhile, the first shipment of vaccine arrived at Friendship Airport in Baltimore yesterday. It was a consignment of 8,000 packages for a Baltimore drug firm which plans to sell it to private physicians.

A bigger shipment for free distribution to first and second graders throughout the state is expected soon.

Others will have to pay for shots from their doctors. The charge is expected to be the cost of three office visits plus the price of the vaccine, or about $15 to $20 for the three shots.

Dr. Frantz said the big program will get under way Monday with the first of the three scheduled inoculations to be completed in all schools by Tuesday, April 26.

The Health Department is setting up various centers instead of going to each school. Pupils will be transported to these central points.

Gilchrist Says Vote Machines Contract Signed Before Bids

The Shoup Voting Machine Corporation of Philadelphia did not submit its bid for supplying 103 voting machines for Allegany County until after the County Board of Election Supervisors already had awarded the contract to its competitor, C. William Gilchrist, local attorney for the company, said yesterday.

Gilchrist made the observation in comment upon a statement made Tuesday by William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors, that the election board had bids from both firms before awarding the contract to the Automatic Voting Machine Company.

Judge Henderson Defers Decision In Damage Suit

After hearing testimony from 12 witnesses and arguments by the two attorneys in a $6,500 suit resulting from water damage to the office of a local surgeon, Chief Judge George Henderson took the case under advisement in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Henderson said he wanted to check the law cited by the attorneys in their arguments before he finally decides the case.

Dr. A. J. Mirkin, whose office is situated at 115 South Centre Street, brought suit against the Deeley Dental Supply Company of Baltimore. His office was damaged when a water line leading to the dental office of Dr. Robert K. Poling, directly above Dr. Mirkin's office, broke. The defendant company had been installing new dental equipment in Dr. Poling's office.

Police Officer Frank Bowen, who discovered water running from the building about 2 a. m. November 14, was the first witness in the day-long trial. He said the water was two inches deep in Dr. Mirkin's office.

Among other witnesses were Police Sgt. James W. Brown, Officer George E. Pfeiffer, Claude Twigg of the City Water Department who was called to turn off the water into the building; and Henry N. Dressman, who repaired Dr. Mirkin's office.

Another witness was John Mertens, local plumber, who was called in by Dr. Poling after the water line break to make the necessary repairs. The line had been installed by a Baltimore man.

Clarence Lippel, Dr. Mirkin's attorney, argued that his client's losses as result of the water damage were over $5,000 not counting anything for personal inconvenience in the six weeks he could not use the office.

Thomas N. Berry, attorney for the defendant, said the company was not responsible for the break in the water line. In fixing damages there is only the responsibility of placing damaged property in the condition in which it existed before the accident occurred, he said, adding that the office is much nicer now than before the accident.

Dr. Brandt will serve as consultant at the workshop tomorrow.

The night meeting is planned to give men and teachers who cannot attend the workshop an opportunity to hear the consultant. A special invitation has been extended to Health Department personnel, representatives of the League for Crippled Children, Juvenile Court attaches and Welfare Board members. Alternate Plan For Flood Work To Be Acted On

A delegation of Ridgeley residents met yesterday with city officials and agreed unanimously on a modification of plans for the upcoming flood protection project, and Mayor Roy W. Eves said officials of Cumberland and Ridgeley plan to forward official resolutions on the plan to the Corps of Engineers.

Mayor Eves said an alternate plan was worked out some time ago to save the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company's sand and gravel plant and to protect the jobs of the workers.

This alternate plan, he added, alarmed residents of Ridgeley, who reported they did not feel the plan would give proper protection.

Work Out Alternate

A committee of Ridgeley residents, he added, went to Washington March 31 to confer with the Corps of Engineers, and came to an agreement on another alternative.

This plan was explained to city officials Tuesday by officials of the Corps of Engineers, and it was suggested that the city get official approval by the Ridgeley Council.

Mayor Eves said the plan was explained in detail to 14 residents of Ridgeley who met yesterday in City Hall for the meeting arranged by Mayor W. D. Bidinger.

Councils To Act

He said Mayor Bidinger plans to call a special meeting of the town council Friday to pass the necessary resolution, and that similar action is to be taken by the City of Cumberland on Monday.

Mayor Eves said the work is covered by the contract for which bids were opened yesterday, and that the Corps of Engineers wants the issue settled so it can notify the contractor of the change in extending the end of the levee.

He said the change will give protection to a greater area and more people.

The latest plan, Mayor Eves said, will save an estimated $98,000 over the original plan, with the city's share in the savings estimated at about $69,000.

Albrecht Bids Low On Flood Control Job

Contract Includes Work In City, Ridgeley And In River Channel

The E. J. Albrecht Company, of Chicago, yesterday submitted the apparent low bid of $817,480 for the next contract on the $17,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection project.

Bids on the contract, which includes about a mile of Potomac River channel improvement, about 1½ miles of levees and 600 feet of concrete flood wall were opened yesterday in Washington by the Corps of Army Engineers.

An Associated Press dispatch listed the second lowest bidder as the Buck and Donoho Company, Newark, N. J., $899,367, and the third as the Wright Contracting Company, Columbus, Ga., $1,043,780.

Is Well Known Here

The Albrecht Company is well known here as it last year completed several major phases of the big flood protection job, including improvements made to date on the Wills Creek channel and the construction of the Industrial Dam at Riverside Park.

The Wright Contracting Company last fall completed the West Side flood wall and at present is laying the deck of the Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge which is built on abutments provided when the dam was built.

The contract covers the raising of Kelly Boulevard and the construction of an earth levee to the West Side flood wall, and a levee from the downstream end of the wall to the confluence of Wills Creek and the river.

To Start In May

In Ridgeley, work includes about 600 feet of concrete flood wall, from the Western Maryland yards to a point opposite the Potomac Edison power plant. Then the West Ridgeley levee will begin and continue to the cliffs opposite the Moose Home here. It will start again near the Blue Bridge, follow the river to near Ridgeley High School, where it will mark a semicircle to connect with a bank along Route 28.

The work also includes a realignment and excavation from the upstream end of Smith Island along the West Virginia side of the river about a mile downstream to a point below the Knobley Mountain railroad tunnel.

Senator J. Glenn Beall reported recently the contractor will be allowed 600 calendar days to complete the work, which is expected to start early in May.

Local Resident Sues Virginian

A $12,000 damage suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by a local man who contends that he was injured and his automobile damaged extensively when his car was struck by a two-and-one-half ton truck on Baltimore Street.

Fred M. Propst, 323 City View Terrace, filed the suit against Russell Gordon Didawick, RFD 3, Winchester, Va. The suit was docketed for Propst by Attorney William L. Wilson.

The plaintiff states in his declaration that he had to stop his car for a red light while traveling west on Baltimore Street at Centre Street on or about February 7.

The brakes on Didawick's truck failed and he crashed into the car, Propst asserted. His car was damaged extensively and he suffered injuries to his back, spine and right leg and lost considerable time from his work at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, he added.

Cracked Brake Drum Caused Bus Accident

Guy M. Davis, owner of the Cumberland Transit Lines, yesterday said that the cause of the accident in which one of the buses ran into a porch of a Bowman's Addition home Tuesday was due to a brake drum cracking, catching on the shoes and locking the wheel.

He added that nothing had happened to the steering sector as previously reported by the driver and by police who investigated.
